Italy Also Dispatches Aid As Insurgents Plan To Attack City

BULLETIN

Disastrous Flood In Imperial Valley Seen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Unless steps are taken to control the Colorado river within the next ten years the entire Imperial valley of California will suffer a disastrous flood which would entirely inundate one of tht richest agriculture sections of America, Arthur P. Davis, Oakland reclamation engineer, said today. Davis formerly in the United States reclamation service, made a study of the Colorado river. He declared that the constant depressing of sediment was building up its bed so that present levees holding it in check were yearly becoming more impotent.

"In ten years," Davis said, "the levees will be below the level of the river and it will be impossible to hold it in check. Already in recent years the river has risen beyond the height of the levees and only sand bags kept its waters from the valley. The measures will be inadequate unless the government constructs a dam at Boulder canyon for releasing water gradually throughout the year rather than permitting it to flow to waste in the spring and dry up in the summer."

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Dec. 22.—The first of three investigations into the fatal Soo line passenger train wrecked here neared completion today when a coroner's jury was impanelled to fix responsibility for the toll of eight dead and seven injured. Testimony will tend to show that the accident was caused by a defective switch bolt which splintered as the first cars of the heavy train passed over it allowing the dining car to "split" the switch, leave the rails and plunge over the nearby embankment fifty feet into the Chippewa river.

None of the men named had previously been discussed in connection with the job and Governor Richardson issued a lengthy statement regarding his appointments.

PILOT OF AIR MAIL DIES ON DUTY

Plane Leaving Chicago for West Found Wrecked In Snow Storm

KANEVILLE, Ill., Dec. 22.—The plane of Pilot Charles Gilbert of the air mail service, lost since the flyer took off for the west from Chicago yesterday, was found here by searchers today. Gilbert's body was found a short time later lying near the wrecked plane. His parachute had failed to open.

The body and plane were found after more than twelve hours' search in which hundreds of residents of the countryside near here, joined. The body was found by Fred Scheiser, town marshal of Kaneville.

Snow Is Blamed

When Gilbert failed to report at Iowa City, an effort to locate him was started. The Chicago landing field was notified and officials there began telephoning to points along the route.

By this means it was established that Gilbert had passed over cities and towns west of here but had not cleared over Kaneville or any point beyond.

The wrecked plane bore the marks of its battle through the snow which Gilbert encountered almost immediately after leaving the Chicago field.

It is believed some trouble with the plane caused the mishap as residents who noticed the plane passing over here reported it flying low and apparently at reduced speed. It is thought Gilbert may have been looking for a suitable landing place and that he was unable to find one in time to avert the crash.

CONGRESS HAS OLD BURDEN TO CARRY

Foreign Policy Again Crops Up to Give Jingoes Fresh Opening

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright. 1924

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The same old question—shall Congress conduct the foreign relations of the United States—has cropped out anew.

Having offended Japan by restrictive legislation last summer, congress is again the scene of debate, the effect of which it is anticipated will not help relations between Washington and Tokyo and may, on the other hand, make even more difficult the burden on the president and secretary of state in keeping official intercourse with Japan on a friendly basis.

It all started through the clamor for a bigger navy, but it was intensified by the isolated action of Representative Britten of Illinois, Republican, ranking member of the naval committee, who asked the house of representatives to adopt a resolution authorizing the president to call on the "white nations bordering on the Pacific" to confer on defensive measure.

Mr. Britten's idea doesn't represent the sentiment of congress, but when cabled to Japan explanations are not always made of the exact importance of each resolution.

Coming as it does at the same time that clamor is for a larger navy and when the American navy is planning maneuvers in the Pacific, the Britten resolution annoyed the department of state to the extreme.

STATE GETS TURN AT M'COY TRIAL

Kid's Story of Suicide Is Ridiculed; First Degree Murder Is Asked

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—In a determined effort to riddle the graphic story told by "Kid" McCoy on the witness stand in his trial for the alleged murder of Mrs. Teresa Mors, in which the former champion fighter declared the woman shot herself, Deputy District Attorney Fricke today began the state's arguments to the jury.

The prosecution opened with an attack upon the defense evidence, with the announced intention of getting to the facts at once.

With two other attorneys for the state and three for the defense still to be heard, it was anticipated that arguments would continue until late Wednesday. A recess will be taken over Christmas. The case will probably go to the jury Friday.

McCoy Ridiculed

Ridiculing McCoy's story that Mrs. Mors shot herself, Fricke demanded a verdict of first degree murder. Physical facts concerning the blood stains, position of furniture and the location of the empty cartridge shell, among other things, were cited by the prosecutor as disproving the kid's version of how the woman died.

McCoy's lapse of memory was also flayed as "convenient." The former boxer, Fricke declared, remembered incidents of value to his defense, but proved strangely forgetful at other times.

Fifty-two different articles of groceries and meats will be sent out, including a chicken in each box.

Plenty for Everyone

ARCTIC COLD GIVES WAY TO ROARING BLIZZARD

Mississippi Valley Is Hard Hit; Death Stalks In Wake of Weather

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—A blizzard was roaring out of the west today to replace the arctic temperatures which for three days have wrought havoc in the Mississippi valley and the surrounding territory.

Temperatures were slowly rising today as the first of the snow swirled about the middle western states and the weather bureau here announced that the backbone of the season's first severe cold wave was definitely broken.

The affected area today was struggling back to normalcy, restoring wire service disrupted by the cold and the sleet which preceded it and checking the damage to crops and property which the frigid temperatures brought. In the Mississippi valley alone, it was estimated this would run to over $1,000,000, and the total damage throughout the midwest, it was expected, probably will run to two or three times this.

REV. KRINGEL IN CHRISTMAS TALK

Zion Lutherans Are Told Of Great Preparation For Yuletide

Rev. Henry O. Kringel delivered a sermon on "The Meaning of Christmas" at the services held yesterday morning at the Zion Lutheran church, corner of North Isabel street and East California avenue. He said:

"Immense and expensive preparations have been made all over the earth for a joyous celebration of this festival season. Many weeks in advance of its coming the crafts and arts and trades have been busy producing the best that fertile mind can invent and a deft hand fashion. From shop and store a wealth of beautiful things has poured into the homes. The world has put on holiday attire. Wherever we turn the eye there is splendor and cheer. The return of the Christ child's nativity has again met with a grander reception than any which ever is accorded a king who stops at a loyal town in his domain, or a general who returns from a successful campaign, or the head of a family who comes home to his loved ones after years of absence.

"Externally this present celebration leaves nothing to be wished for. And it is proper that the joy of the world over the incarnation of God's son should find such splendid expressions and assume such large proportions.

Sham Given Meaning

"True, there is much sham and much senseless waste in this glitter. But Christians who have become accustomed to use this world without abusing it, sanctify also the external manifestations and the material means of their joy by the Word of God and by prayer. To them even the joy of their child and the tinsel on their Christmas tree is a means to an hallowed end, namely, that of expressing somewhat their joy and gratitude for God's gift to them in the Redeemer, Jesus Christ.

"But there is a nobler adornment which the Christian puts on in honor of His Lord, not only at Christmas time, but throughout the whole year. It is expressed in the following words 'For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared unto all men, teaching us to deny ungodliness and worldly lusts, and to live soberly, righteously and godly in this present world; looking for that blessed hope and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour, Jesus Christ, who gave Himself for us, that He might redeem us from all iniquity and purify unto Himself a peculiar people, zealous of God's works. He who confesses Christ as his Saviour, knows the true meaning of Christmas."

BETHLEHEM BABE TEXT FOR SERMON

Rev. Frodsham Tells About Jesus' Mission and Xmas Thoughts

The morning service at Bethel chapel, 633 East Colorado, was preceded with exercises by the Sunday school pupils, who were given books and other gifts as rewards for faithful attendance. A special service also was held, when several babies were presented by their parents, who desired that the young lives should be dedicated to God.

Pastor A. W. Frodsham took as his text "And she (Mary), shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins. . . . They shall call his name Emmanuel which being interpreted is God with us."

"Our thoughts at this time are naturally centered on the Babe born in Bethlehem. What is the real meaning of same? It is easy to miss the true import, and thus miss the heart of Christmas. The prophet Isaiah had said, 'Therefore the Lord Himself shall give you a sign; behold, a virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and shall call his name Emmanuel.

"The incarnation is one of the great mysteries of the gospel; how that the eternal Son of God, should humble Himself that He might become partaker of our nature. Why was it thus? For what purpose?

God's Mission

"It has been pointed out by a writer that it was necessary for the eternal Son of God to become flesh and blood. 'For as much then as children are partakers of flesh and blood, He also Himself likewise took part of the same,' and by this means it was possible 'that thru death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage.' Heb. 2.14.

"So it was not for an example, or as a teacher, or as a pathfinder that Christ came into the world. It was God manifest in the flesh, in order that Christ, as Jesus of Nazareth might save His people from their sins. Bethlehem spelled Calvary; the wooden manger without the wooden cross would be a horrible mockery; and the cross, without the empty tomb would be a calamity. Truly the angels sang 'Peace on earth,' but that peace was brought about by the blood of Christ who is our peace, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition . . . having abolished in His flesh (through the incarnation) the enmity, . . . so making peace. Ephes. 2:14.

"Wondrous and glorious as the incarnation is, the great background is the crucifixion on Calvary.

'THIS GRACE ALSO' REV. THOMAS' TALK

Grand View Pastor Tells Parishioners About Art Of Giving

"There is one vital element in the life of the Apostolic church which we have not touched in our studies until now," said Rev. George W. Thomas, yesterday morning in his sermon. "This Grace Also" delivered at the Grand View Community church. He continued:

"That element is their use of money. There were two terrible examples of its misuse. One kind of people lied to the Holy Spirit about its money and tried to cheat God in giving. The other kind thought the Holy Spirit could be bought into blessing a sinful life if it gave money enough. There are still the Holy Ghost liars and the Holy Ghost buyers in the world today. Billy Sunday says that when those folks are baptized in the sprinkling churches, the water doesn't reach their pocket books, and when they join the immersing churches they change their pants.

Paul Glories

"But Paul glories in the many, many people who have received 'This Grace Also,' the abundant heart that lays its resources, slender or great upon the altar of God and makes Christian Stewardship an outgoing love and prayer. Their great trial of affliction and their deep poverty abounded unto the riches of their liberality and Christ blessed their slender resources and multiplied them as He did the loaves by Galilee, so that the work of the church was adequately supplied.

"And now, before we organize our new church, let us as they 'did' first give our own selves to the Lord, and our service and resources unto His Kingdom according to the will of God."

Rev. Thomas delivered a sermon on "Adorning the Doctrine of God Our Saviour," at the evening service. Special music was rendered at both services by the Junior Choir.

REV. KLINE TALKS ON WORLD NEEDS

Central Avenue Methodists Pastor Tells Why We Needed Jesus

Rev. Leo C. Kline, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church, spoke yesterday morning on "Why the World Needed Jesus," saying:

"There were many things for which the world stood in need before Jesus came. And, if these needs have not been fulfilled during the time since Christ was born it is because men have not appropriated Christ or else have not heard about Him. One thing for which the world needed Christ was to put a soul in religion. There was plenty of religion such as it was. But there was no soul in it.

"Religion was a round of fasts, sacrifices, feasts and observance of rituals and ceremonies. It was the worshipping of gods made by the hand of man or creatures of his imagination. It was crammed full of superstition, ignorance and often obscenity. Jesus made religion a spiritual thing, an expression of the soul's desire to realize God. Again Jesus was needed to put religion in the heart. Religion was a lifeless thing till Jesus came. It was made up of traditions. A vain attempt to carry out the requirements of the law, an effort to establish one's righteousness of letting others see one's generosity and hear one's prayers on the street corners.

Out of the Heart

"Jesus taught that out of the heart were the true issues of life whether good or evil. If religion was not in the heart then it was not in the life. Jesus also was needed to put a heart into man. Man was selfish, cruel and heartless till Jesus came. Men were divided into classes, Jews and Gentiles, rulers and subjects, masters and servants, men and women, adults and children. Jesus came to establish a new bond of understanding and fellowship between all classes. He taught the sacredness of personality of every human being. He said love was the fulfilling of the law.

"Finally, He put man in touch with God. Man knew but little about God 'til Jesus came. He came to reveal the Father. Man was separated from God by his sins. Jesus came as a mediator between God and man. He told men what God was like and then showed them by His life. Jesus told men that God loved them, that He would forgive their sins, and give to them joy, peace and life everlasting and be an eternal Father to them. He pleads with men to be holy and made possible a fellowship with God such as man had long desired but never realized. Yes, the world needed Jesus and needs Him as much today."

REV. KEMP TAKES 'OBEDIENCE' TEXT

St. Mark's Episcopal Pastor Tells of Earthly Life Of Our Lord

Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church yesterday morning delivered a sermon on the subject "Incarnation of Jesus Christ Stands for the Great Life of Obedience." He said:

"As we approach the great feast of Christmas our thoughts turn towards the meaning of the earthly life of our Lord. As St. John says the Word came and dwelt among us and we beheld His glory, glory as of the only begotten of the Father full of grace and truth. Jesus came to show us the glory of the religious life. In His revelation of it it is the life of perfect obedience to God. That life which He exemplified we can follow. Our faith in the incarnation or life of God among men is the answer to the spirit of obedience to God. As we live with Him the glory of that life is revealed to us.

"The incarnation stands for three great affirmations in this life of obedience to God. Jesus makes plain to us the life of obedience in the spirit of service to our fellow men. That service is alike rendered to God who makes it glorious. Jesus came to serve that He might lead us from the death of sin to the life of fellowship with God. This freedom comes through life of obedience by which the true life of spiritual progress is made accessible to us.

Obedience to Jesus

"In the second place it explains to us the obedience of Jesus to the limitations of the flesh. He became man that He might be our great example and merit the title Son of Man. He shared in the experience of mankind that we may glory in fellowship with Him. The humble life at Nazareth gave Him sympathy with the life of hardship and struggle that so many of us have to know. He lived a very natural life seeking help from His heavenly father in the same way we all must do by prayer, noble acts and a life of sacrifice.

"He never resorted to miracles to save Himself. He was obedient to the way of man to the very end. Finally He was obedient to the heavenly vision that He might vindicate the Gospel of love and service. We need never be afraid to stand for the right hard as it may be for that is the road our Savior went Himself.

"The incarnation tells us what Jesus meant religion to truly mean by making it a life of growing intimacy with God sharing together those great experiences that make living worth while. While man may never think of himself on terms of equality with Jesus yet Jesus has shared life enough with us to give us confidence in the glorious life of faith and comradeship with Him who is at once our comrade and captain."

GOOD TIDINGS OF CHRISTMAS, TALK

Tropico Presbyterians Are Informed of Greatest Message In History

"Good Tidings of Great Joy" was the topic of the Christmas sermon delivered yesterday morning at the Tropico Presbyterian church by Dr. James F. Winnard, pastor. He said:

"No carrier of news ever brought such a message as this of the angel on that winter night some 2000 years ago. His words told of the fulfillment of the prophecies made since the days of Adam and for which all people had been looking. 'Unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour which is Christ the Lord.'

"Explicit direction as to where to find Him were given and no sooner had the heavenly visitants departed than the shepherds said one to another, 'Let us go now and see this thing that has come to pass,' and when they had seen they made known abroad the coming of the king. For the 'good tidings' were not for them alone but should be to all people.

History Begins

"All history dates from this wonderful event. From that time all things become as new. For there is a new dispensation of grace to take the place of the law. There is the new birth, the new life, the new man and the new home. All things became as new with the promise of a new heaven and a new earth. And a New Testament was given to bear record of these things.

"It was a glorious privilege and honor to have been the bearer of these 'good tidings.' But it exceeded only in point of being first, the privilege of every man or woman to tell the same story in sermon or in song and until all people come to know the Lord we may continue to tell and sing the 'good tidings of great joy'."

PERFECT XMAS IS REV. COLE SERMON

Central Christian Pastor Dwells On Yuletide Spirit In Talk

Rev. Clifford A. Cole, spoke on "A Perfect Christmas" yesterday morning at the Central Christian church, saying:

"'When they saw the star they rejoiced with exceeding great joy.' The new star was to them a new sign, a sign of great portent. They understood that it stood for the new born King of the Jews, the Messiah. The star foretells the Christ; the less suggests the greater. It is so in life. One flower becomes a garden; the line of a song stands for the anticipated joys of Heaven; a single word contains a volume; the sent postcard represents friendship; the "Merry Christmas" tells a long, long story; a sign or a voice summons the presence of comrades and loved ones of other days. When one grows old, how the signs and tokens drive away the cares that would infest!

"Still, some may rejoice in the star until in their intense gladness they may forget the significance of it. Some may have a "happy Christmas" with the Christ left out. Some may let the star lead them to the door of the inn and never enter to see the child. Commercializing the day, an orgy of buying and selling, the getting of presents, and other things, may secularize and destroy the sacred memory of Him whom the day should honor, for America is long on celebration and short on commemoration.

Wise Men's Part

"The wise men entered the house, saw the child and worshipped. To make the day a perfect day, add worship to joy. Oh, friend, if we enter in and see the Christ, we will worship Him. Not necessarily will it be a rush of words nor exclamation of praise, but an intense longing to exchange ugliness for beauty, sinfulness for righteousness. For a perfect Christmas add worship—reverent, humble worship.

"When the wise men had worshipped, they opened their treasures and presented gifts. Their gifts followed their worship and were not patronage but tokens of loving service. You and I ought to open our treasure caskets where precious things are kept and give gifts to the King. Lock not the music of your heart nor any other rich treasure in a casket. Release them for the King. Inasmuch as you give to the least of His children you give to him. Our gift should cost us something and should be given in His Name.

"These wise men obeyed the voice of God and did not return to tell the heathen king, Herod. Who can go back to Herod after a joyous Christmas? Who can bow down at the feet of evil when they have worshipped at the throne? Who can be obedient to the call of the world after serving Him? So many of us in these days as always are always going back to Herod. So many of us enter and see the Christ and then go back to the old evil things; we are enticed by the glitter of the king's palace after we have walked in the litter of the stable where the Christ-child has lain. Oh, go back another way, and all the good things of the old road will be transplanted and bloom at your doorstep!"

REV. CALDERWOOD GIVES XMAS TALK

'Jesus as King' Taken as Sermon by Pastor of Congregationalists

"Jesus as King" was the theme of the sermon delivered yesterday morning by Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the Congregational church. He said:

"The Wise men asked the question, 'Where is He that is born King of the Jews?' This enraged Herod, as he wanted no one to rule but himself. People objected to having anyone hold dominion over their lives. The rulers of political and social life objected to anyone telling them what they must do. But Jesus insisted that He was king and He demanded obedience.

"It was His insistence on His kingship that brought about the tragedy of His crucifixion. That same tragedy is being enacted today. Multitudes cry out, 'We will not have this man to reign over us.' Militarists, materialists and pleasure seekers cry out, 'We will not have this man to reign over us.' What do we do with Jesus at this Christmas season? We sing His praises and we say, 'Lord Lord.' But we do not obey Him as king. Are we happy that we have a king whom we implicitly obey?

"If we do not make Him our king He does not become our Saviour. Joy comes through doing His will. The redemption of the world comes only through the world's making Him king and obeying His commands. Let us bring to Him the frankincense and myrrh of obedience and crown Him Lord of all."

REV. LIVINGSTON ON CHRIST CHILD

Casa Verdugo Pastor Tells Parishioners of Life Of Saviour

Rev. J. C. Livingston, pastor of the Casa Verdugo Methodist Episcopal church, said yesterday in his sermon:

"Bethlehem is repeated in every Christian life. As Christ was born a physical child, so is he born a spiritual life, in every soul that finds its advent in Jesus Christ.

"Even as our Lord was born in a manger, His first cry blending with the lowing of the cattle, so is the new-born soul; with no language but a cry to God; born on the mundane plane of its own nature, appointed in the providence of God to an "increase in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man," before which the Herods' do well to tremble.

"Paul, the apostle, must have been thinking about something like that when in his letter to the Galatians he yearned for them in the expression 'Until Christ be formed in you.' He knew all about the new awakening. He knew the field of our human nature. He knew all about the wiles of the adversary. But he knew also the potential power of Jesus born in a human heart.

"The very angels must have trembled, when they looked upon the first baby, that God would dare to create anything so frail, and helpless, and beautiful, and in it vest all the future glory, and power and dominion of His kingdom upon the earth.

Power of Jesus

"In our thinking we are inclined to regard the things miraculous, as the startling things in the life of Jesus. His miraculous birth; his miraculous deeds; his miraculous resurrection. I am wondering if, in the light of these, we ought not to be startled by his self-appointed limitations. He had power over life, and when He rebuked it in the tree it died.

"He had power over death, and restored the widow's son, and the life of His friend. The winds and the waves obeyed His voice. I saw a cloud-burst strike a mountain side. In the movement no water was visible. But the mountain seemed to move like Birnam Wood on its way to Dunsinane. Power! Power! Immeasurable power. Jesus said that He could impart a power that would 'say to this mountain, be removed,' but He never did.

Childhood of Soul

"The startling thing in Him is that He limited Himself. Though all power was given unto Him in heaven and on earth, yet His was the way of the little child, and for us, 'Ye must be born again,' 'Except ye become as little children ye shall in no wise enter the kingdom.' Except Bethlehem be repeated in us there is no Christmas to the soul.

"What a pitiful thing it is to see those who have never known any childhood. What tragedy is written upon the countenances, and in the lives of those who have never known the blessed periods of life in which childish trust, and simplicity, and imaginings, formed for us the background of life's experiences. What travesty child labor has been guilty of in that particular. What rape the curse of rum wrought in that field. But what tragedy of tragedies, and poverty of poverties, is in the human life that has never known the childhood of the soul, the Christmas Day of Bethlehem in the heart."

Atwater Baptists Hear Rev. Nelson In Talk

"Following the Star" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning at 11 o'clock at the Atwater Park Baptist church by Rev. M. Grant Nelson, pastor. Miss Naomi Fletcher, national young people's worker for the Northern Baptist convention, was the speaker at the evening service. Special Christmas music was rendered at both services.

New Thought Church Hears Xmas Sermon

"The birth of Christ is the greatest event of the human history," said Mrs. Adaline Becker at the New Thought center yesterday morning.

"After 2000 years men are realizing that the consciousness of the Christ must be achieved by a working majority of the human race, if the race is not to be annihilated. He told us we should do the works that he did and even greater works; he called us sons of God; and he our elder brother. The ideal is not beyond attainment," continued the speaker.

"We are entering upon an unusually important Christmas season, for the birth of this spiritual or Christ consciousness is awakening in many of present day mankind. The coming generations will see it unfold in all its richness and glory."

Special music for the service was furnished by Miss Mabel Cappell, Master Guerdon Wattles and the choir.

LOCAL PLANES VICTORS IN TOURNEY

Dr. Young and W. W. Kinner Take Three Prizes In Long Beach Meet

With five entries in a sixteen-event tournament, taking three prizes in competition with some of the best equipped and expensive machines in California, Glendale aviators made a brilliant record at the Long Beach aviation meet Saturday and Sunday before a crowd estimated at 25,000. Glendale aviators in Glendale planes manufactured in a Glendale factory put Glendale squarely on the California aviation map. The meet was held at the Long Beach municipal aviation field, one of the best in Southern California comprising 150 acres, which is also water bearing.

In the big ship enclosed cabin race, Dr. T. C. Young, Glendale, entered and piloted his ship Argonaut. Dr. Young is conceded one of the most skillful pilots and attained a speed at times of 120 miles per hour. Some of the turns were taken at ninety miles an hour and Dr. Young was given second prize. A significant feature of this was that Dr. Young's plane had only a 190 horsepower motor while the plane taking first prize was equipped with a 300 horsepower motor. Dr. Young's plane was built by the Kinner Airplane & Motor corporation, Glendale.

Kinner Planes Entered

Two Kinner planes, entered and piloted by W. W. Kinner, Glendale, took two prizes in four events in which they were entered. Kinner airster No. 13 competed in the short plane special; Kinner No. 6 took first money in the free

First Baptist Church Holds Day of Giving

Yesterday was a day of giving rather than receiving at the First Baptist church. In the morning the church and church school united in bringing gifts for those less fortunate. A pyramid of bundles, boxes, baskets and cans of fruit was piled high on the platform. Much of the donation will be given to a Mexican pastor and his family who have recently started work at Pacoima. A committee was appointed from the church school to see to the distribution.

Rev. Ernest E. Ford's message was from the subject: "Christ the King." The choir rendered several Christmas selections. At the evening service the church school again brought gifts for the King. This time it was in the form of money, and was for the extension of the Kingdom of Christ in all the world. The offering amounted to over $135.

The elementary grades will have Christmas parties in their individual classrooms in the church on Tuesday afternoon and night. The church voted to commence its midweek meeting on Wednesday night at 7 o'clock and let out in time for all who desire to attend the community Christmas tree on the Harvard High school grounds.

Central Christians to Hold Meeting Friday

Owing to Christmas falling on Thursday, Central Christian church folks will have their church night meeting on Friday night. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock. At 7:30 o'clock Rev. E. R. Moon, a missionary from the Congo, Africa, will speak.

Central Avenue Church Change Prayer Meeting

Prayer meeting services at the Central avenue Methodist church will be held Friday night instead of Wednesday night. A cantata "The Story of Bethlehem" was presented by the choir last night at the evening service at the church.

SOLICITATION BY 'BANDITS' BARRED

Advertising Schemes From Outside City Nipped By Secretaries

Methods of defeating the "pernicious banditry" of illegitimate advertising solicitors from within and without the home community, was the chief subject of discussion at the monthly gathering of commercial secretaries of Southern California meeting in Glendale last Saturday. As a result of action taken the advisory council and officers of the secretaries' association will work out definite plans for the establishment of a cooperative central bureau to handle information gathered by individual chambers of commerce on various advertising schemes and to pass this information on to all chambers in the south in as expeditious a manner as possible. In this manner, with a correctly functioning organization, eradication of illegitimate schemes, termed by speakers at the meeting as "pure blackmail" in many instances, will be accomplished within a short period of years, it was predicted.

The steps taken at the Glendale meeting will resolve into one of the most important movements ever undertaken by the southern secretaries' association, it was said by Secretary Howard I. Wood of the Glendale chamber and E. C. MacDonough, executive of the Santa Barbara chamber, who led the discussion favoring the organization of the bureau, either as another department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce or as a separate entity, operating in conjunction with the Los Angeles chamber. Other speakers who urged the movement were Secretaries Charleville of Burbank, Metzgar of Santa Ana, Page of Pomona, Baldwin of Long Beach, Schoenthal of Riverside and S. P. Morris, representing the organization service department of the Los Angeles chamber.

Work Already Done

Mr. Wood pointed out that during the five months the solicitations committee of the Chamber of Commerce has been functioning in Glendale, only one advertising solicitor who, applying for permission to go among the merchants and solicit, has been approved. As high as twenty-two requests have been made in one day, he said, all being found unworthy upon investigation by the committee. A check showed that merchants here would have been called upon to subscribe to $30,000 worth of advertising in one month had it not been for the refusal of the committee to give its sanction to the prosecution of the schemes in this city. Most of this amount would have actually been raised, past experience shows, Mr. Wood said.

"Such methods on the part of crack salesmen for making easy money are sticking the dagger of disaster into the very heart of Southern California's legitimate newspaper publications, the only profitable mediums of advertising," Mr. Wood said. "Our home papers are the very life of our cities, and fake advertising costs charged up to advertising funds by merchants are causing these worthy newspapers to sustain losses instead of making profits as they should—profits to which they are justly entitled for service rendered."

Merchants Benefited

Mr. Wood dealt with his subject from the standpoint of its advantage to the chambers of commerce themselves, saying one-fourth of the amount spent on illegitimate advertising would create a fund sufficiently large to operate any successful chamber. He said once a cooperative scheme for handling solicitors was in force, merchants can be shown where their chamber membership

USE FEATHERS FOR FROCKS NOWADAYS

Finest Garments For Elite Trimmed With Plumes Of All Colors

By AILEEN LAMONT
Special Correspondent of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—The proverb "fine feathers make fine birds" has been changed to read "fine feathers make fine frocks."

There are few articles of feminine apparel for spring which lack feathers of some kind. The most striking ideas at present are on evening gowns and wraps. These are beautifully decorated by huge designs of birds and flowers made of tiny feathers pasted on buckram and applied on the front or skirt of the satin or velvet dress.

These designs offer practically every possible color combination and outshine in contrasting effect even the embroidery of the Spanish shawls. Almost the entire backs of some of the evening wraps are covered with elaborate designs.

Also Day Frocks

The day time frocks have followed the trend also, although in their case the entire breasts and heads of the birds are utilized. Rows of these, usually coque or pheasant, are used for bands about the cuffs and bottoms of the dresses and the new spring hats use them posed cockily at one side of the small satin hats.

Some evening slippers are a solid mass of feather decorations. Garters have fringes of ostrich tips or other feathers and even lingerie is not immune. The new feather bandeaux would make Pocahontas green with envy and even handkerchiefs are fringed with plumage. However, bird lovers need feel no acute alarm over the future of the feathered friends. The makers of these ornaments patronize the poultry dealers and depend on the dye pot to make the plumage wild.

DRIVER FLEES FROM SHOTS OF POLICE

Officers Warned to Watch For Bandit Car Open Fire by Mistake

Shots fired by Officers George Noble and W. E. Rogers of the Glendale police department, early this morning, at what they mistook for the car of a bandit, struck the machine driven by Dan E. Caldwell, of 1271 Linden avenue, and pierced a window at 119 North Brand boulevard.

The shooting occurred at the corner of Brand boulevard and Wilson avenue, after Caldwell had refused to stop when trailed by Lieutenant Louis Nunn and Officer A. M. Larson, in a police car, with the siren open.

"I thought I was being held up," Caldwell told Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department, in explanation of his failure to stop.

Driver Is Warned

He was given a reprimand and warned that his refusal to heed the police siren might have cost him his life. The officers believed they were on the trail of Curley Richards, wanted in Los Angeles for shooting a police officer.

They had picked up the trail following a report from J. Meager, manager of a car rental service at 316 South Brand boulevard, to the effect that a man giving his name as C. E. Richards, and his address as 112 East Chestnut street, had taken out a car on payment of what appeared to be a worthless check.

Description Fits

The description of the man who had passed the check corresponded with a description of Curley Richards, on file at local police head-

These men are all successful. Their judgment is good. Their action in placing their money in this corporation is the loudest speaking argument to be offered concerning their opinion of it. They have not merely uttered a lot of nice sounding words of praise. They have placed their own money in the Gibraltar Finance Corporation. Don't you want to become a real partner of these successful men? Notice that word real. We mean not a partner who merely draws a dividend of a stipulated rate, but one who also participates in the surplus earnings of the corporation by virtue of his shares of common stock. That is what we call Real Partnership.

EDUCATIONAL METHODS

An eastern woman educator, Mrs. Marietta Johnson, founder of a unique school at Fairhope, Alabama, has some excellent, though revolutionary ideas on educational methods, but the statement that she made recently at a teachers' institute in Santa Barbara that "the present public school system is a system of child labor, monstrous alike for teacher and pupil," sounds a little ridiculous to us who were familiar with school methods of a generation ago. There may be room for improvement in the school system today, but with the short hours, frequent holidays, the many social affairs and games, it would seem that the requirements cannot be so very severe since so many do finish the course in spite of all the distractions.

Mrs. Johnson made a good point when she said that much of the fuzzy thinking in regard to education can be traced to the idea that the pupil is preparing for something. All the way through school it is being impressed upon him that he is not prepared and when he graduates from college and goes out into the world the business man tells him he is not prepared. Childhood should not be a preparation for adult life any more than a man's 50's should be preparation for his 60's. Her plea is to keep the child flexible, capable of adjusting himself to different environment. Teach him to be a fine child and he will grow up to be a fine adult.

One of the novel features of Mrs. Johnson's school is that no grades are given and all the students graduate no matter what the quality of their work, a system that would appeal to high school students everywhere.

TOLERANCE FOR YOUNG

Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver, always the champion and friend of youth, comes to the defense of the younger generation again and urges a greater tolerance toward the young on the part of parents and older people. He takes the view that youth is not wholly wrong in its demand for certain changes in conventions which, as they now stand, no longer fit the needs of a civilization geared to the use of the telephone, the automobile, the motion picture, the radio and the like. He thinks, too, that the older generation is justified in the belief that established conventions are necessary and right. The trouble is that the two generations cannot meet each other half way.

According to Judge Lindsey, who has had long experience in dealing with young people, nothing but further trouble can come from the fierce intolerance that is now directed toward the ways of the modern youth and that it is necessary for adults to contribute counsel, sympathy, experience and moderation toward the education of the young, with the understanding that well-trained young people are capable of ordering their own ways and making their own choices. The present failure of parents, he says, to make any effort to see things through young eyes is one of the greatest evils of modern life.

Youth today is no more inclined to take advice, to profit by the experience of the older generation, than it has ever been. The only course that parents can pursue is to give their children thorough training in the fundamentals of right living, and then let them choose their own course.

SCIENTIFIC WONDERS

Eighty years ago when the first telegraphic message was sent the world marveled. Today we see in the newspapers pictures that have been transmitted by radio, and though we might well ask in the words of that first telegraph message, "What hath God wrought?" we are so surfeited with scientific wonders that we give such manifestations scarcely a thought.

And it is predicted that these pictures are but the beginnings of what science will be able to accomplish. Compared with what will be brought forth, they are but the faint scratchings of prehistoric man on the walls of his cave. Eventually, scientists say, pictures will come through the air with all the definition of line and tone that marks the modern photograph. And printed matter and handwriting will shortly follow. The pocket radio will come and with it a little device into which we can look and see 10,000 miles away. We cannot say that this is impossible, and we do not, for in the light of our past experience such doubt seems ridiculous. The New York Evening Post says:

"So rapid is the progress of new devices for abridging space and penetrating walls that the man in the street is not surprised at anything. Expecting anything, surprised at nothing, it takes a supreme phenomenon to induce him to stop, look and listen. Perhaps he will take Gabriel's own trump as merely the vibrant sound of a new make of motor horn, and decline to take note of the judgment day itself on the ground that—if he chooses—he will find all the details, and the pictures in his favorite newspaper within a few minutes of the occurrence."

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Eastman, the kodak man, and Duke, the tobacco king, have recently given more than $50,000,000 to educational and religious institutions in the east. These great millionaires have demonstrated the true Christmas spirit, giving to others and making it possible for thousands of young men and women to obtain the education that will better fit them for life.

It is interesting to speculate as to what we would do if we were the possessors of great wealth, like these men, but we find it rather difficult to get the viewpoint of those who have so much they cannot use it all. But this is a good test. What do you do with your little surplus? Are you inclined to be charitable? Do you realize that even a dime spent to give cheer to one less fortunate than you expresses the Christmas spirit just as truly as the millions given by these men? Or are you selfish and wasteful? The parable of the widow's mite is especially appealing at Christmas time or when we try to excuse ourselves for not helping to boost the old world along because we haven't millions to give away.

No ordinary citizen is going to feel offended should Uncle Sam decide to make another reduction in income taxes.

Notwithstanding no one has ever succeeded in growing hair on a bald head, the hair restorer is one of the best sellers.

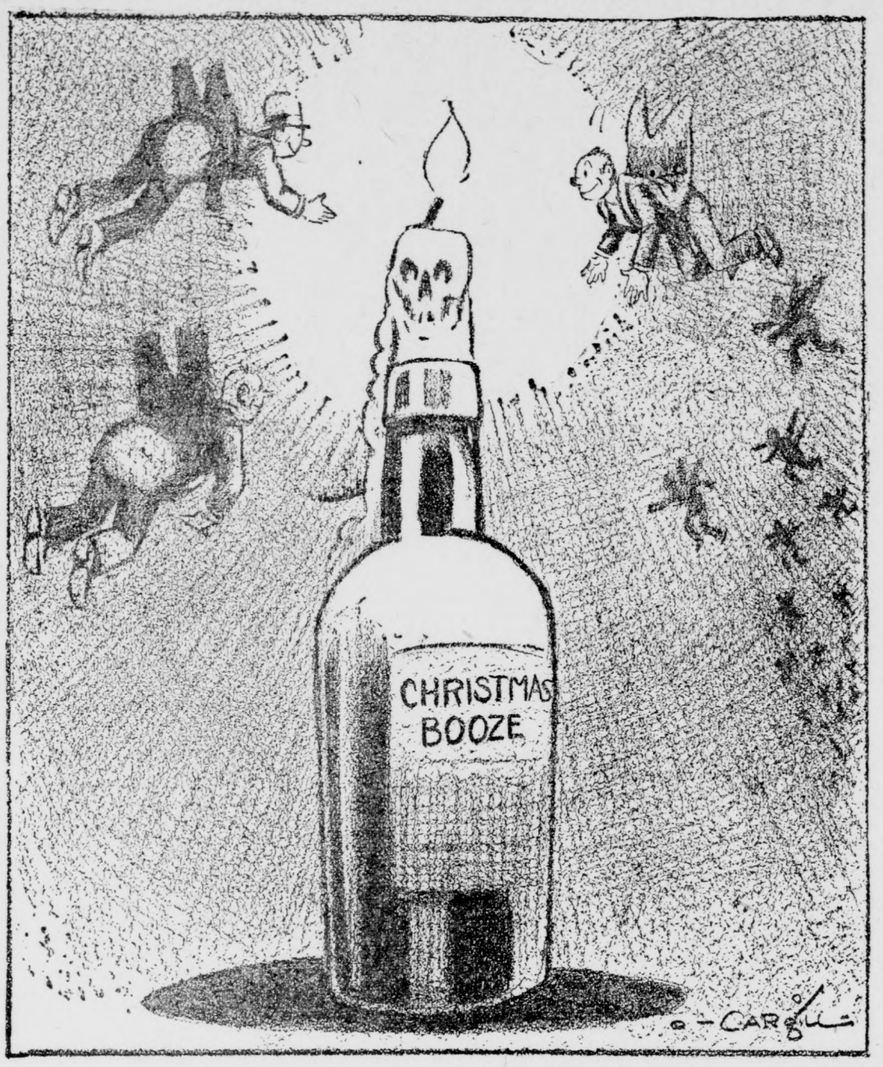
THE LIGHT THAT NEVER FAILS!



The Visiting Nurse

By DR. FRANK CRANE

One of the most valuable institutions of modern times is the Visiting Nurse. A circular sent out by the Visiting Nurse Service of New York, gives some interesting facts.

These nurses respond to all calls within their capacity, and care for the needy-sick, regardless of race, color or creed. They are all registered nurses from accredited schools. Last year, in the great city, they cared for 50,300 patients, of whom 1,527 were less than five years old. 11,496 patients were mothers or expectant mothers, and 9,450 of them were new-born babies.

Approximately 400,000 nursing visits were made in the city last year, and the average cost of each of them was $1.10.

As the annual average cost of maintaining one nurse is around $1,560.00, these nurses represent an admirable way in which any one can be of service to his fellow men by supporting them. Patients are asked to pay the cost of the visit, if they can do so, but service is never refused because of poverty.

When you or someone in your family gets sick, your doctor telephones for a trained nurse. She understands taking care of the sick, and before you know it she is a part of your household, and you are depending on her for all manner of things.

Only one sick person out of every ten goes to a hospital. The rest stay at home. For thirty-one years the New York Visiting Nurse has ministered to these sick people, day in and day out, rain or shine.

In 1893, two nurses, operating from a little upstairs room in a tenement house, constituted the entire staff. Today 248 nurses go out from twenty-three modern, fully equipped nursing centers.

In big New York there are many people, if they knew more intimately of the work that even one of these nurses does in a year, would gladly help, and interest others in providing her salary.

It is to be remembered that it takes only $1,560.00 a year to keep her going, with cheer and comfort, from sick room to sick room.

We bespeak for this admirable institution the heartiest support of the public.

Horoscope

Mercury in benefic aspect dominates this day, according to astrology. Saturn, the sun and Jupiter are adverse.

It is primarily a rule under which to wind up all business affairs of the old year, a time to take stock and to settle accounts.

Mercury gives fair promise to those who advertise and to all who write important business letters.

Under this rule all matters that have been long neglected should be taken up and an effort should be made to prepare for 1925 by erasing all accounts that should be adjusted.

The moon is in Scorpio, a watery sign ruled by Mars and should encourage certain lines of constructive effort.

Excellent vibrations prevail early in the morning, which is the time on this date to attend to routine matters and household duties.

Extremes in emotion may be common today, for there may be much exhilaration, followed by brief depression. For this reason a mood of positive cheerfulness should be maintained.

There is an especially good sign for making plans and for consultation regarding future policies.

Concentration is supposed to be encouraged by the aspects and for this reason it is a favorable day for serious thought or study.

Under this planetary government there should be a distinct broadening of ideas and a tendency to grasp the practical side of any question.

The seers prophesy for certain states a sudden change in temperature on Christmas eve and a terrific storm.

High winds, danger on land and sea and a "wrenching of the earth" has been foretold as weather indications for the end of this month.

Persons whose birthdate it is should not speculate in the coming year. Those who are employed should be careful.

Children born on this day may be quick-tempered and high-strung, but unusually talented. These subjects of Sagittarius are on the cusp and are likely to have capricorn traits.

Word 4 a short way of writing railway.

Word 5 the missing word in the sentence: "Were you——school today?"

Word 7 the first word of the commandment referring to your father and mother.

(Running Down.)

Who's Who

When President Coolidge was only a member of the Massachusetts legislature, Frederick Huntington Gillett of Springfield, who will enter the U. S. Senate March 4, was in Congress and a Republican power in his state. He was first elected to the House of Representatives in 1892, and he was re-elected every two years until this fall, when he was the successful candidate for the upper house. He was eminent in that body as its best bridge player, until six years ago he added to that distinction of the speakership.

Seventy-three years old, he is a thin little man whose voice has the same quality that President Coolidge's has. Like the president he was graduated from Amherst college, and is the only alumnus ever to address that body in a dinner coat and tan shoes.

Following graduation from Amherst college with the degrees of A. B. and M. A. Gillett attended the Harvard law school and was admitted to the Springfield, Mass., bar in 1877. From 1879 to 1882 he was assistant attorney-general of Massachusetts.

Shortly after his election to the House in 1892 Gillett was offered his life's ambition, a judgeship. The battle to decide for or against was the greatest fight of his career. He decided against it and remained in the House, winning his re-election fifteen consecutive times.

Today's Poem

THREE THINGS

Three things filled this day for me,
Three common things filled this day;
Each had, for me, a word to say;
Said it in beauty, and was done:
Cows on a hillside all one way,
A buttercup tilted seductively,
And a lark arguing with the sun.

These three things, merely these three,
Were enough to cry the world
Out of my heart: the buttercup curled
Where some gorgeous ruffian plundered;
The skylark's dizzy flag unfurled;
The placid cows pensively
Wondering why they wondered.

CHRISTMAS TIME IS SERMON TOPIC

Rev. W. E. Edmonds Explains Purpose and Intent Of Festivity

"And the angel said unto them, 'Fear not; for, behold, I bring unto you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.' From these words as found in the second chapter of the gospel of Luke, and the tenth and eleventh verses, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, of the Glendale Presbyterian church, brought a Christmas message on Sunday morning.

"Christmas has long been observed as a Christian festival commemorating Christ's nativity. We remind ourselves that the Puritans of England in the reign of Charles the First, enacted a law forbidding all observance of Christmas either by merry-making or religious services," he said. "They had the conviction that Christmas was a heathen celebration, brought over from paganism to contaminate the religion of Christ. Out of questionable celebrations has come on the part of many a recognition that this day belongs, first of all, to the Christian church, and while we do not recognize Christmas as a holy day or a day divinely set apart, it is well we realize the text which is the heart of Christmas.

"The text is the Christmas gospel, the gospel of good news; good tidings, gospel of gladness, a heritage of joy, great joy to all people. The keynote is Jesus, Himself. Jesus is the theme of the song of the angels and of the redeemed, nothing is so incongruous as a Christmas without Christ and I fear that is true of the majority even in Christian lands.

Raps Santa Idea

"Even today, the pagan tendencies of the celebration are not wholly suppressed. In our very churches and Sunday schools, to say nothing of Christian homes, there is constantly evident a tendency to slant backward to Santa Claus mythology, all well enough, but decidedly impious when in the children's minds it takes the room of the Christ-child's memories. And there are unworthy reversions in the adult world also, as when Christmas is wholly frolicked away in convivial festivities, or a scant selection of unaccustomed charities is lugged in to atone for a year of otherwise unmitigated selfishness. It takes, therefore, great vigilance to preserve in this adapted pagan anniversary a meaning fit for its Christian name.

"This text suggests two thoughts—first the name He bears and second the blessings He brings. 'His name shall be called Jesus for He shall save His people from their sins.' The Christ of Christmas is not primarily the Christ of Gallilee and Judea. He came not to teach primarily, but to save from sins, from worries unto the uttermost. 'Sweetest name on mortal tongue, sweetest carol ever sung, Jesus, blessed Jesus.'

"Then His name is Christ, and was so before He came. Jesus and Christ are not interchangeable; Jesus means the man who lived and died, Christ the God-man, the Anointed One.

"The third name is Lord, 'My Lord and my God,' a name with authority. If you propose to celebrate Christmas, put your program beside that word, and that personality—One with omnipotent power, One who governs. 'The government shall be upon His shoulder,' one who conquers; He conquers us, and through Him, we conquer sin. He rules the world with truth and grace, and makes the nations prove the glories of His righteousness and wonders of His love.

"Christ came to bring man God down to man; God made known through the Babe of Bethlehem. His name is Emmanuel, God with us. He brought man up to God. That has been the question of all ages, how to bring man up to God. This is the mystery of Christmas, the mystery of the gospel—it is the good tidings of great joy.

"Again, Christ came to make effective peace on earth, good-will to men. That's what the world is struggling for today. But what a farce men's treaties have been; Emperor Nicholas started The Hague tribunal and before the buildings were finished, he was fighting with Japan. Talk about $100,000 peace prize, God offers peace through Christ, without money and without price. He is our peace, sweet peace, the gift of God's love.

"There is a legend that Thomas, the doubter, found the Magi in the distant east a few years after the resurrection, and told them the story of Jesus. They believed and were baptized. These Magi went forth, they who had once brought their gold and frankincense and myrrh and laid them at the feet of the Babe, they now went forth preaching Christ and Him crucified and like so many of the early Christians died the martyr's death and received the martyr's crown. So we may bring to Him our treasure of gold, and our lives yielded, our Lord and King, and then unite with the heavenly hosts in the song, 'Glory to God in the highest, and on earth, peace, goodwill to men.'"

Carol Chorus To Sing Early Xmas Morning

Early Christmas morning Glendale people will hear carols sung by a chorus from Central Christian church. Rev. Clifford A. Cole has led a group of singers every Christmas for eight years. From 4:30 till 7 o'clock carols are sung for "shutins." At 7 o'clock breakfast will be served at the Kilborn home on West Lomita avenue. Mr. Cole announced today any Glendale people desiring to receive a visit from the singers call him at Glendale 578-W.

HI-Y CAMPERS IN RAGING BLIZZARD

Campers From Big Bear Tell of Experiences With Winter

Glendale Hi-Y boys who spent last week at Big Bear lake were back in Glendale today telling of their experiences in a blinding blizzard encountered on their way to the lake twenty miles out from camp. The last stretch of the journey had to be made in the face of the driving snowstorm and through drifts many feet deep. The Hi-Y party in charge of Rex Kelley, Y. M. C. A., executive, was the last to make the lake during the storm.

Once at the camp, the boys enjoyed tobogganing ski-ing, snowshoing and other forms of winter sports. Evenings were spent around the fireplace in the big lobby of the camp hotel.

The party broke camp early Saturday morning and started for home, bent on reaching Glendale in time to take in the football game between Glendale and Compton High schools. So slippery was the route, however, that they dared not leave the valley until later in the day, much to the disappointment of the boys.

Football News

First news of Glendale's football victory came to the party by telephone a few miles from Victorville, through The Glendale Evening News. With word of the victory, a great celebration was in order. Mr. and Mrs. Rex Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Boyd, Mrs. Thomas McDougal, Henry Michel and H. Park Arnold accompanied the boys on the trip.

Forty boys of the Pioneer Y group left this morning under the direction of Harry Lentz and Arthur Bennett, Wilson school teachers, for Red Triangle Cabin, in the San Gabriel canyon, where they will spend tonight and tomorrow, returning to Glendale tomorrow night.

Exalted Ruler of Elks To Pay Official Visit

Horace H. Quinby, deputy grand exalted ruler, will pay an official visit to Glendale lodge, B. P. O. E., tonight, on the occasion of exemplification of degree work for a large class of candidates. The class includes thirty candidates, who will become members of the newly-organized Burbank lodge, in addition to the Glendalians who will receive the initiatory work.

WOMAN TELLS OF SAWTELLE VISIT

Mrs. Houdyshel Describes Appreciation of Vets For Xmas Gifts

Mrs. Priscilla Houdyshel of 308 North Orange street, visited Saturday at the Soldiers' home at Sawtelle, and described her trip as follows:

"Through the courtesy of Mrs. Lillian Peckham we visited the Soldiers' home at Sawtelle and while the boys are furnished a home with food and clothing, yet there is so much that the good people of Glendale could do to help those who have sacrificed so much for us. We visited what is called the blind ward. There are between twenty-five and thirty, most of whom are blind, all totally disabled. Mrs. Peckham has been doing a wonderful work there for many months. She has been singing and playing for them and they all love her and are delighted when they hear her voice.

"We took a quantity of jelly, giving each veteran a glass, which they greatly appreciated. Two cases in particular attracted my attention. One a Spanish War veteran, who was making glass serving trays, with a woven willow frame, very attractive and useful. Anyone who wishes one can purchase them from him. He only receives a small pension each month. The other, a World war veteran, totally blind, has never received any compensation whatever.

"I know they would appreciate anything, especially people who could sing or read or give them some entertainment that would bring them in touch with the outside world and brighten the day for them. They are in building No. 11. Then in No. 8 are about 200 World war boys who have been gassed or shell shocked and can be given entertainment that would brighten their lives. The different organizations of Glendale have responded nobly and are preparing Christmas goodies for them, but there is opportunity for others to do their bit. Let everyone who can help to brighten the lives of those who have gone out in defense of our country and sacrificed their all for us."

for all handicap, up to 2000 feet and first down race; Kinner No. 4 won second prize in the relay race. The Kinner airsters were equipped with fifty horsepower motors while all their competitors were equipped with eighty to 100 horsepower engines.

Dr. Young was accompanied in his plane from Glendale by Mrs. Young and his mechanic, Fred Roak. City Councilman C. E. Kimlin was at the Glendale airport and witnessed the take-off of Dr. Young. Steps were also taken at Long Beach by Dr. Young and Mr. Kinner to have the next Southern California aviation meet held at the Glendale airport. This will probably be in March and would bring a crowd of 15,000 to 20,000 to the Glendale airport.

Dr. Young stated that some of the parachute jumps and bombing contests were especially interesting as was also the race of Spad ships. A barbecue followed the events each day. Several machine loads of Glendale people attended the tournament.

fee will net them five thousand per cent profit, the amount saved on illegitimate schemes alone.

A detailed plan for coping with the asserted menace will be worked out by the executive heads of the secretaries' association and presented for consideration at the next meeting, January 31, at Calexico. It was also announced that the February meeting of the secretaries will be held in the new Chamber of Commerce building at Los Angeles, which will be completed by that time. More than a half hundred secretaries attended the meeting in Glendale. Secretary Metzgar of Santa Ana, president of the association, presided. The business session was preceded by a luncheon. The affair took place at the Masonic Temple starting at noon.

Commercial Life of Glendale Grows Consistently With Population.

"Down through the ages," as the movies would say, man has been importuned to trade with the home merchant. The saying has become so hackneyed as to have lost its edge and the average person passes over it without a thought.

Most people buy where they can do the best. That is human nature and to be expected. The merchant cannot, and usually does not, look for patronage unless he merits it.

The average merchant in the average city does deserve the support of the home people. If he is really a business man he is public-spirited and participates in community affairs and is interested in community improvements.

In Glendale the business and professional people have been progressive. The growth of the city did not catch them napping. The business structure of the city has been builded rapidly and consistently as the community has grown in population and importance.

Glendale found her business and her professional men and women anticipating every step of her advance until her business center is now the talk of the south.

There may be larger stores and more of them in some of the big cities of the land, but are there finer ones, fairer prices, or better service to be had anywhere?

And so when Glendale Business asks your support that it may continue to march forward step by step with the city, you are being invited to help in bringing forth a Greater Glendale.

Those on this page are asking your loyalty to the community and proving their own loyalty by helping to make Glendale a larger and a better city. You have given them your support in the past. They thank you and ask that your patronage continue.

Their business and the business of the community are dependent upon the home people for life and support.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Dec. 22.—The ten-acre site between Yosemite drive and Campus drive, known as the Stewart property, has been acquired for a school playground and a $50,000 check is in escrow, reports Mrs. H. I. Cruzan of the local P.-T. A. H. H. Maxson is largely responsible for the successful fruition of this project, she states. A year ago, when he was vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, the ball was started rolling, with the assistance of the Women's Twentieth Century club and through the efforts of a group of representative citizens. Councilman Edwin Baker, a resident of Eagle Rock, is likewise accredited by Mrs. Cruzan with having much to do with obtaining this playground site for the district. Thanks are also extended to Charles Lamb, secretary; Mr. C. B. Raitt, superintendent, and Mr. Holcomb, appraiser for the Los Angeles playground department, whose cooperation, Mrs. Cruzon states, had much to do with the success of the project.

The plans for the playground and recreation center include a baseball diamond, tennis courts, swimming pools and such additional equipment as is being provided for the other playgrounds of the city, all to be under city supervision.

Plans for the creation of a Merchants' Credit association are developing rapidly, reports C. U. Young, who with C. L. Suits, Emil Swanson and Mrs. J. C. Reiter, of the local Chamber of Commerce, are behind the project.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Halde of 4835 Algoma avenue, are among those guests who will be present at the Christmas party given by Mrs. Sid Busby at her home in Inglewood, on Christmas day. Mrs. Busby is an aunt to Mrs. Halde and formerly lived in Eagle Rock.

Miss Ernestine Biles, daughter of Fred E. Biles, well known local banker, has gone to Chicago for a two months' visit.

Gulf Coast Oil Flow Shows Better Results

HOUSTON, Dec. 22.—Average oil production in the south Texas and Gulf coast fields was 140,685 barrels, an increase of 1,275 barrels over the previous week average

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Dec. 22.—From the deepest jungles of the Belgian Congo in Africa to the peaceful home of Mrs. J. E. Emerson, 437 Orange Grove avenue, is the story of the trip made by Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Barclay and their little daughter Muleka. Mrs. Emerson and Mrs. Barclay are old-time friends and the Barclays are making their home with her for the present.

Mr. Barclay has for a number of years been employed by a Belgian mining company, operating on the Kassai river, one of the largest tributaries of the Congo. Little Muleka was born there. They are back in "God's country" for good, Mr. Barclay states. The Barclays left Africa April 3 and have been traveling in Europe since that time. They visited in Belgium and spent much time at the celebrated springs at Spa, where they improved their health after the malarious conditions of the tropics.

Robert Lewis Barclay, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Barclay, is attending Stanford university and is expected here to spend Christmas with his parents. This will be the first time in eight years the family has been united during the holiday season.

Cleve and Tony Norvell, who with a party of friends, left the home of their mother on Arminta street about two weeks ago en route to Colorado Springs, Colorado, by way of the Santa Fe trail, were last heard from at Flagstaff when a fall of seven feet of snow was reported. Cleve Norvell and friends had been visiting here for a number of months.

Mr. and Mrs. Boatner and daughter, Aleen, of Calexico, left recently for their home after a week's visit with Mrs. Boatner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jordan of 240 Grinnell avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Metzger of Wenatchee, Washington, visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Ohmart of 554 Orange Grove avenue.

Coal Mining In Illinois Falls Below Last Year

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 22.—Coal production for the mines of Madison county, Illinois, for the fiscal year just ended totals 3,444,685 tons, as compared with 4,020,559 tons last year.

LANKERSHIM

LANKERSHIM, Dec. 22.—The Community players will present a pageant, "The Nativity," on Christmas eve, at the Little theatre. The full strength of the players will be engaged in the production, it is understood, and there will be special lighting effects. An effort is to be made to make it the finest production of its character ever seen in this section.

The pageant will be the contribution of the players to the Christmas spirit and festivities, and under the direction of Wade Boetler the players and singers will be trained for a finished production.

The various churches, in addition, are preparing for their own celebrations. The Kiwanis club is to give a children's party at Lankershim theatre the afternoon of December 24 and Community band is preparing to play on the streets Christmas Eve.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Children's Party

Children of the Episcopal orphans' home at Annandale were given an enjoyable Christmas party Saturday night by members of the Girls' Friendly society of St. Mark's Episcopal church. Sixteen members of the society left the church at 7 o'clock and motored to Annandale for the party. Gifts, which were mostly toys, were given to each of the thirty-seven children at the home. A short program had been arranged and was presented before the gifts were distributed. Miss Gladys Kattleman and Miss Ethel Read gave Christmas readings and a Christmas carol was sung. Santa Claus, who was impersonated by Miss Gladys Kattleman, arrived and presented the gifts. The party was given in the auditorium. Refreshments of homemade cake and lemonade were served. Tarlatan candy bags sewed with bright colored yarn had been filled with candy, nuts and other things and these were given the children later. After the refreshments had been served, all of the children joined in cheers for members of the Girls' Friendly society and then closed their impromptu program by singing a Christmas song. The party was in charge of the program committee, which is composed of Miss Beena Jensen, Miss Elizabeth Stevens and Miss Georgina Campbell.

Fatal Shooting Likely To Disband Vigilantes

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 22.—It appeared likely today that Portland's vigilantes— a group of 100 volunteer citizen policemen— would be stripped of their arms and stars, following the fatal shooting here Saturday night of Joseph F. Coffin, a night watchman, by Maynard Cole, sergeant of the vigilantes.

The city and the county coroner opened separate investigations today into the shooting. Coffin fell mortally wounded when Cole mistook him for a burglar and opened fire. Coffin, watchman at the Columbia Contract Co., had forgotten his keys and was raising a window in the company's office with a shovel when Cole ordered him to throw up his hands.

Coffin mistook Cole for a hold up man, and fired. Cole answered with three bullets and killed Coffin. Cole was shot in the groin and is in a serious condition at St. Vincent's hospital.

The social department will meet Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the church to make plans for the annual Intermediate Christian Endeavor banquet which will be held on Friday, January 9.

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM, Copyright 1924

CHAPTER LI

Grant nodded, furious with himself that the indifference with which he replied was only assumed. He stood in the swaying room, holding on to one of the fixed chairs, bitterly resenting the sudden access of weakness which made him half long for, half dread, her coming. Then he heard an unexpected sound—the sound of her laughter, silvery, almost gay, as she came cautiously in, holding on to the wall. He stepped forward to meet her and led her to a chair. She looked at him wonderingly.

"Whatever have you been doing, Grant?" she exclaimed. "What a color you have! You look as though something marvelous had happened."

He shook his head.

"Just the storm," he answered. "It was wonderful this afternoon."

"I watched it from my porthole. In a way it frightened me, too. I was glad you sent your little message, Grant."

She looked at him and the fingers which held his glass shook. She was wearing a simpler dress even than the night before—a gown of black and silver brocade, whose only fastening was a girdle around her waist. It was cut low at the throat and she was wearing no jewelry, not even her pearls, to conceal the white softness of her neck. When he looked at her arms he saw that the sleeves were wide and loose.

"I am afraid that I was a little churlish last night," he confessed, "and I didn't mean to be, Gertrude."

She caught at his fingers and held them for a moment.

"You are a dear, Grant," she said, "but you do carry the executioner's knife with you. Tonight let us forget. I think I too have the storm in my heart. Let us forget the pain that comes when one remembers—when one passes on to solitude. You shall be my agreeable companion at dinner-time, and we will imagine that afterwards—well, what shall I say?—Otto is waiting for me in the lounge, you are on your way up to solve bridge problems at Lord Yeovil's. But, we dine together."

"If we dine at all," Grant laughed, as the spray suddenly beat against the porthole. "This may put the fires out."

"The bugle has gone anyhow," she answered.

She was forced to cling to him along the passageway. He had, even, once to support her. In the saloon everything had been made fast as far as possible, and deep fiddles were upon the table. The service of the meal, however, was unimpaired. Gertrude had found her appetite. So also had Grant. Conversation became suddenly a pleasure. It was as though the whole awkwardness, the whole tragic significance of their presence alone in the middle of the Atlantic had been swept away. She began to talk of Berlin, the efforts of the aristocracy to reinstate themselves, the silent influence of Lutrecht, Blunn and his wonderful love of life and dark background of unscrupulous ambition.

Grant, who was usually so full of reserves, told her what only two people in the world knew—of his visit to Berlin as a traveler in steel, told her how he had stayed at a commercial hotel and dodged the fashionable quarters of the city, of how he had seen her once in the distance, driving. He even told her what she wore. She laughed into his face, with glad eyes.

"You remember my ermines. You remember just what I wore. And yet you pretend that you don't care."

The wine danced in their glasses.

"Wonderful!" Gertrude declared. "No one ever has such wonderful wine as you, Grant. Or is it drinking with you makes me think so, I wonder. When you can leave off being severe, when you can look like a human being, something like the dear Grant of only a few years ago—then you make life seem too thrilling. Oh, if only I had the power to soften your heart just a little, to awaken memories in your brain, to make your eyes soften and have you feel—well, you have felt things for me, Grant."

"And you for me?" he ventured.

"As for no one else," she answered; "then and, alas, now."

He felt a sudden rebellious stirring of the pulses, and he set his teeth. She laughed at him, half provocatively, half insolently.

"Grant," she begged, "just this one night may we have some more wine? Hearing the thunder of those seas breaking outside excites me. I had no lunch and I'm hungry and thirsty."

Brookes hastened away. They were alone for a moment. She leaned towards him. He sat quite still. Her lips rested for a second delicately, yet tenderly, upon his, and passed away.

"The storm," she whispered. Put it down to that. All the strange things that one can't see at normal times seem to be calling out inside one tonight. Grant dear, do you know you really have got better-looking during the last three years? I like the way you part your hair, and those tiny little bits of grey at the sides."

"Are you trying to turn my head?" he replied uneasily.

"If I could, I would," she confessed. "Why think of it? Why speak of it? I love the excitement of this great motion, the thrill of being here alone with you. We are somewhere in the middle of the Atlantic, aren't we Grant? Oh, I wonder what Otto is thinking about?"

She leaned back and laughed, showing her perfect teeth, the faint color once more back in her pale cheeks.

"I think I must have an evil nature," she went on, "because I love to think of him now, tearing his hair and cursing—impotent. If there's anything in the world really detestable, it's a jealous man who takes no pains to keep what he has—a jealous man who thinks that what he has bought—bought at the altar—is his by divine right."

Grant rose to his supreme effort. He braced himself and fought against the personal note which had crept into their conversation. He tried to discuss the future of the nations, but she wuold have none of that. He told stories, and she suffered herself to be amused. But all the time the atmosphere which she had created seemed to remain. Her eyes were continually seeking his, begging for that answering flash which bespoke a common understanding.

"Ah, Grant," she said once, as they lingered for a moment over their last glass of wine, "how happy I am tonight. You were adorable to fetch me from my solitude. Do you know that, if you had sent me no word, I should have stayed on where I was? I think that I should have died."

Views and Previews Theatres News Notes From Studios

Compiled by Members of The Evening News Staff

THE GATEWAY

Aileen Pringle is to be seen in a new style wedding dress in the Metro-Goldwyn picture, "His Hour," which is showing at the Gateway theatre today and Tuesday. She wears a gorgeous creation as the bride of Prince Gritzko, played by John Gilbert.

Sophie Wachner, designer in charge of the wardrobe at the studio, created something uniquely different.

The dress is made with full court train, and instead of the customary dead white, is of a soft cloth of gold, short-waisted and with a low square neckline. The gown is made very simply, but the richness of the material and the elaborateness of the jeweled headgear, make up for the usual ornamentation on a bridal gown.

Her bouquet is of orchids. In that, too, she differs from the conventional bride, for the flowers are of lavender hue.

So effective, so becoming and so different is this wedding gown of Tamara Loraine (the character Miss Pringle is playing) that undoubtedly quite a furore will be started among brides-to-be, and it will not be surprising to see a vogue in cloth of gold wedding gowns.

King Vidor directed "His Hour," which is a picturization of one of Elinor Glyn's world-famed love stories. It is a Metro-Goldwyn picture, presented by Louis B. Mayer.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"I Love You," is the new offering of the Dobinson Players, which opens Wednesday at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, is from the pen of William Le Baron and was inspired by the song of that name, which was a nation-wide hit.

A special orchestration of this popular number has been made by Gladys H. Lott, musical director of the Dobinson Players, and will be played as an overture. Mrs. Sharkey and Mrs. Frederickson will assist. Those who listened in on KFI Sunday night heard this orchestration and were given a synopsis of the play by Mrs. Florence Dobinson.

"I Love You" is announced as a clean, wholesome comedy, full of smiles and breathing the atmosphere of romance. It is expected to appeal strongly to Glendale audiences.

The fruit and vegetable stand came in for its share of patronage as did also the Neighborhood variety store, owned by M. C. McLean, who specializes in orange fudge. The meat department, owned by Joe Wagner, offered many inducements to the thrifty shopper, also had a demonstration of Cudahy's Puritan hams, sandwiches being served all day to visitors. NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 22—Louisiana sugar, although the crop was the smallest in thirty years, is moving very slowly. Refiners are indifferent buyers and raws are bringing only 4.90 a pound compared with 5.85 ten days ago. Syrups have declined 3 cents a gallon to 63 cents.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S HOLLY WREATHS

Three days before Christmas, Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy said to Uncle Wiggily:

"Don't you think it's about time you hopped to the woods to gather holly to be made into wreaths? We shall need three of them."

"Yes, I think so," spoke the bunny gentleman. "But why three wreaths; for whom are they?"

"One for Santa Claus, one for you and one for me—to be hung in our hollow stump bungalow," said the muskrat lady husekeeper.

"Your wishes shall be obeyed," laughed Uncle Wiggily, like a fairy in a story book. Then over the fields and through the woods he hopped until he reached the place where the holly grew.

Holly, you know, is a sort of tree, or big bush. It has bright, glossy leaves, with sharp, prickery points on and mid the green leaves grow bright red berries, hard and round like red cinnamon candies, though of course the holly berries aren't good for boys and girl to eat.

"There is enough holly here for many wreaths," said Uncle Wiggily to himself as he sat on a stump and pulled his fur gloves over his paws. He needed gloves to handle the holly because its leaves were so sharp and prickery.

"I might as well weave the holly into wreaths right here," said the bunny gentleman to himself. "Then the leaves and berries that drop off won't get on Nurse Jane's clean floor in the bungalow."

So Uncle Wiggily twining and fastening the branches of holly, made the first Christmas wreath, but, no sooner was it finished than, all of a sudden, out of the bushes jumped the Fox.

"I've come to nibble your ears!" barked the Fox.

"Oh, have you!" cried the rabbit, made bold when he thought of Christmas and Santa Claus. "Well let me decorate you with a wreath, Mr. Fox." With that the rabbit tossed the first wreath he had made over the head of the Fox. The sharp points of the holly leaves stuck the bad chap in his eyes, made tears come into them and the Fox howled:

"Gurra! Gurra! Oh what a pain I have! I must run to the doctor's!" and away he ran.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then he made a second holly wreath. But, no sooner was it finished than out of the bushes popped the Bob Cat with his silly little tail.

"I've come to nibble your ears" howled the Bob Cat.

"Oh, have you," cried the rabbit, twinkling his pink nose as he thought of his Christmas stockings. "Well, first let me make you look prettier than you are!" With that he tossed the second holly wreath over the Bob Cat's head and the sharp leaves stuck his nose.

"Wurra! Wurra!" howled the bad chap. "Oh, what a pain I have. I must run to my doctor's," and away he skipped.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, and no sooner had he made a third wreath than out of the bushes popped the Woozie Wolf.

"I have come to nibble your ears!" howled the Wolf.

"Oh, have you!" exclaimed the bunny, feeling strong as he thought of roast carrots stuffed with onions for Christmas. "Well, take this to make you look like a hero," and he tossed the third holly wreath on the head of the Wolf.

"Oh, Zinka! Zinka!" howled the bad chap as the sharp leaves pricked his tongue which was sticking out. "Oh, what a pain! I must go see my doctor!" And away he ran.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny. "Three bad chaps easily frightened away! But I'll never get any holly wreaths made if this keeps up. I'll take the branches home with me, even if I do dirty the floors." So home he hopped with the branches of holly, and Nurse Jane was glad, for she wanted to help make the wreaths for Christmas. And how she laughed when the bunny told how he had decorated the bad chaps.

So now, if the apple pudding doesn't stay out so late that the early in the morning, I'll tell you milk bottle must bring it home next about Uncle Wiggily and Santa Claus.

COMMON COLD (ACUTE CORYZA)—Part 3.

Have you heard of men catching colds when they have had hair cuts after a longer hair-growth period than usual? Some do. If the resistance is low it seems to take but a trifle to lower it still more to the point where the cold germs—which are evidently always more or less present in the nose and throat—can begin operations. I have found one sure way for me to take a cold. That is, to wash my hair and not dry it thoroughly before retiring, even though I consider my vitality at 98 per cent.

As a cold is first a local process in the nose and throat, obviously the thing to do is to give local treatment with some antiseptic to prevent the growth of the germs as much as possible. In last week's papers I gave you some formulas for this treatment. If you missed them, we have an article on colds containing them which you may have by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

As I explained to you, there is no doubt that there is a type of cold that is highly infectious. You have all experienced it. Even though your resistance may be high, you may catch such a cold if you come in close contact with a person suffering from it, and if your resistance should be low it is almost impossible to avoid one under such circumstances. There are many ways in which these colds are spread: Through the spray sent forth by the sneezing, coughing, talking, laughing; by transference of the germs by kissing, using the common drinking cup, towel, unsterilized glasses of drinking fountains, and so forth; even shaking hands with a cold sufferer. The Chautauqua salute (waving the handkerchiefs in token of appreciation at a public meeting) may be a death salute. It should be abolished. Waving of the hands can be substituted.

A person who has a bad cold ought to remain home and almost under quarantine measures.

The Philadelphia Forum, an organization of men interested in civic improvement, has printed on the back of its admission cards a request to its members not to attend club meetings when they are suffering from colds, fevers or sore throats. It makes an appeal to them to concede to the rights of others by observing these precautions against spreading disease. They report that satisfactory results have been attained by the complete observance of this request. Other organizations, theatres and schools should adopt a similar plan, for colds should not be considered lightly. Colds may lead to all sorts of serious troubles: bronchitis, pneumonia, suppurating ears. There is probably nothing that causes so many serious after-disorders as colds. (Oh, we'll have to except overweight!)

SUPERSTITIONS

There is an old superstition that colds, boils and other discharging diseases are "Nature's splendid eliminative processes, wastes seeking means of getting outside of the body." (We had to combat this superstition among the unenlightened peasants in the Balkans. They would want us to leave some of their sores untreated so the evil spirits could continue to come out!) We know now that this is pure nonsense. If it were so we should not take any means of preventing or trying to abort or cure these diseases. These discharges indicate Nature's reaction against the things that are causing them; and as soon as these causes are removed or overcome Nature stops the discharge.

Someone has asked me if there are not milk cells by which the baby takes a physical, mental and temperamental picture of the mother at the time it is being nursed and therefore will nurse a cold. No! There are no true cells in the milk, except in colostrum—the first secretions of the breasts for three or four days after the baby is born. A baby will not nurse the cold through the milk because the germs of the mother's cold will not be transferred through the milk—unless the milk has been contaminated by the germs after it has been secreted.

A mother suffering from a cold should wear a cloth mask tied over her nose and mouth while handling the baby. She should be particularly careful to wash the hands before touching the baby or anything that comes in contact with it.

Tomorrow we'll finish the service on colds.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e., if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

HAIR DRESSING

These days, when the majority of women go comfortably bobbed, one almost feels that a Chat on hair dressing is wasted. Yet no one is bothering about the girl who has decided to be "different" and keep her long hair!

If, after many trials, you cannot make your hair look nice, cut it off. A shingled bob is bound to be becoming if the ends of the hair are turned under, for the outline is exactly that of hair brushed gently back and finished with a small knot. But don't cut your hair unless such a reason, or poor health, demands it.

Hair that goes limp after washing often does so because it has not been properly shampooed. An oil rub a few hours before, or a beaten egg rubbed on the scalp an hour before, and a washing with liquid castile soap, will make the most stubborn hair soft and fluffy and not too limp. If the hair is very, very fine in quality and not very thick, strands should be rolled around kid curlers, just as it dries, and the head held over heat. This puts in enough soft wave to make it dress attractively for a few days, and by that time it will have acquired more body and life of its own.

Side partings are easiest to manage and a knot just back of the ears is easy to make and becoming. To hold a heavy knot, roll a little strand of hair tightly and pin it close to the head. This forms "a base" to pin the real knot to. Use the comb to pull the front hair softly around the ears and over the forehead, while you hold the ends of it back with your other hand. A center parting is trying to a thin face, though the most becoming style of all to a round or a youthful face. And straight hair should never be artificially waved with a very hot iron.

T. E. M.—You can keep the callous spots from accumulating on the soles of your feet, if you go over them occasionally with a sanitary file. It will help also if you rub the feet with oil whenever there is an unusual dryness of the skin.

Blue Eyes:—You may be in need of a blood tonic, or the kind of food that will enrich your blood. When the lips are naturally red it shows there are plenty of red corpuscles in the blood.

B. V. D.:—I am sorry but the cream formulas cannot be printed at this time. I will be glad to send them to you if you request them and send a stamped self-addressed envelope for mailing.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question—The Editor.

The experienced housewife will not feel the need of help in planning the Christmas Dinner but perhaps the bride will find the following suggestions useful:

Menu: Celery, Olives, Chicken Consomme, Roast Goose with Potato Stuffing, Mashed White Potatoes, Glazed Sweet Potatoes, Cauliflower, Apple Sauce, Creamed Onions, Plum Pudding, Mince and Pumpkin Pies, and Coffee. (If desired the onions or the cauliflower may be omitted.)

Roast Goose: Singe, remove pinfeathers, then scrub the goose in hot soapsuds. Draw (that is, remove inside contents) and wash in cold water, wiping carefully. Now stuff, truss, sprinkle with pepper and salt and lay eight slices of salt pork (thinly cut) over the breast. Put the bird on the rack in your dripping pan, slip the pan into a hot oven, and roast for two hours, basting every 15 minutes with the fat in the pan. During the last half hour of cooking remove the pork slices. Place the cooked goose on a platter cut the string and remove it, and the skewers, and serve.

Potato Stuffing for Goose: Mash ten hot boiled potatoes and add one-third cup of melted butter, one cup of rich sweet top milk or thin cream, three beaten eggs, and three medium-size raw onions finely chopped. Beat this mixture for several minutes, then season with one teaspoon of salt and a generous pinch of pepper and beat again, before using it to stuff the bird.

Plum Pudding: This should be made well in advance of Christmas, but young housekeepers who have neglected to do so still have time to make it although it will not be as well seasoned as if it were older. Put beef suet through your food chopper, then measure; you will need one cupful, well packed down. Turn suet into a bowl and stir with a fork till lightly separated, then add to it two and two-thirds cups of stale white bread crumbs and the yolks of four eggs, which have been whipped with one and one-fourth cups of brown sugar. Also add one tablespoon of vinegar, the grated rind of one lemon, and the following fruits mixed together: One cup of raisins seeded and cut in bits, three-fourths of a cup of dried currants, and one cup of grated raw carrot; dredge these with one-third cup of flour to which you have previously added one teaspoon of cinnamon, one-half teaspoon of grated nutmeg, a generous pinch of ground clove, and one teaspoon of salt. Last, fold four stiffly-whipped egg whites into the pudding, turn all into a buttered mould, cover and sink the mould in boiling water for four hours.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Christmas Presents Taken During Week-End Raids Throughout City

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Dec. 22.—Carroll W. Parcher, son of the first mayor of Glendale, Wilmot Parcher, was installed as president of the Tujunga Kiwanis club Friday night. The installation took place following a turkey dinner at Legion hall, where the full membership gathered for the ceremonies. Mr. Parcher succeeds A. C. Stover to the office, the latter being now a director.

The long-expected fire engine for the Tujunga-Sunland district has been delivered to Fire Chief Harry Rice. A telephone call to Sunland 13 will bring it out on the double-quick, but the callers had best make sure there is a legitimate reason for a demonstration or the chief might resent having to polish the dust off after a false alarm run. In an official test, before the engine was delivered in Tujunga, it pumped 560 gallons of water per minute for over five hours. Over sixty fire hydrants have been placed in the district, and others will be placed as soon as the work can be done.

The program at the last meeting of the Tujunga Women's club was arranged by Mrs. Jessie Jonderton. Her theme was "String Music," and she gave demonstrations of music of different eras, together with sketches of history and origin.

The members of the Tujunga Valley Realty board who have been taking the course in real estate law and practice were tested during the week on questions propounded by Clarence C. Buck, secretary; P. J. Blake, president, and Leo Smith.

According to reports, plans for building firebreaks in the Sierra Madre mountains and the Verdugo hills have been approved by the county supervisors. The plans were devised by County Forester Flintham and are expected to be consummated before the next dry season.

"Singing Jimmy" Smith of the Tujunga Kiwanis club recently made a trip to San Diego, where he entertained the members of the San Diego Kiwanis club and the Sciots with some of his Tujunga booster songs. His portable organ was a part of the equipment, and received considerable mention in The San Diego Union, which recounted his appearances and performances.

Miss Stella Wieman, Mrs. H. I. Farr and Mrs. H. B. Lynch have been appointed by Dr. Stella Conner, president of the Service club, as an investigating committee to approve disbursement of aid through the club's Christmas cheer fund this year. It is planned to distribute ready cooked dinners to invalids living alone and baskets to families. Over $400 was realized at the Charity ball given recently at the Garden of the Moon.

The Tujunga Kiwanis club furnished transportation for the local Boy Scouts who accompanied the hikers of the organization of scouts on their three-day trip up Mount Wilson. Tujunga scouts who made the trip were: George DeWitt, Ira Towle, Sidney Walker and Stewart Correll.

The meat department of Seelig's store has been taken by J. M. Joslyn & Son.

CITY PROMISED REAL XMAS BILL

Community Service Program Of Unusual Merit on Christmas Eve

A seasonal program of unusual merit is promised at Harvard High school grounds at 8 o'clock on Wednesday night, Christmas Eve, when Glendale families will gather around a huge, lighted Christmas tree for the third annual community Christmas celebration. The affair, arranged by the Glendale Community Service, will be in charge of George J. Lyons, new president of the organization. The program will open with a selection by the Glendale Symphony orchestra, directed by J. Arthur Myers; followed by an invocation by Rev. E. E. Ford, of the First Baptist church.

The children of the city will join for a large chorus to sing two Christmas carols, Mrs. W. Q. Widdows being in charge. They will be followed by an adult chorus from the Burbank and Glendale Choral clubs, the church choirs and other musical organizations of the city. This group will give the "Hallelujah Chorus," from the "Messiah," after which the audience will be asked to join them in singing Christmas carols. Mr. Myers will direct, with Mrs. Gertrude Erb at the piano.

Christmas Pantomime

The Christmas pantomime, "Eager Heart," will follow, with Burbank and Glendale players participating. This number is under the direction of Gabriel Ravanelle, an authority on pantomime and a stage director of years' experience.

The program will close with the arrival of Santa Claus at the sound of a trumpet. The good old saint, impersonated by Harry A. James, will stop briefly to thank the children for their contributions for the needy young people of the city. Community Service is asking everyone to bring something to the tree to help spread Christmas cheer among the poor children and in this way to promote the spirit of the holiday.

Wireless may be used for detecting insect grubs in fruit and for sorting the sound from the unsound fruie.

Rates for electricity are so high at Harbin, Manchuria, that many residents are considering installing individual lighting sets.

WELFARE BUREAU IN NEW QUARTERS

C. E. Kimlin Donates Room In His Office for Help to Needy

Activities of the Glendale welfare bureau are now located at the office of C. E. Kimlin, 225 East Broadway. Mr. Kimlin gave the city free use of the rear portion of his office building.

City Manager Stone advised the temporary acceptance of Mr. Kimlin's offer as the city cannot furnish a place for the bureau at present, and the former quarters have been taken over by the health department. Mrs. L. W. Sinclair, who has served as director since the organization of the bureau five years ago, retains her position, and will be found at her desk every morning from 9 to 12 o'clock in Mr. Kimlin's office.

Last year eighty-three people were given employment free through the bureau. The employment work will be continued in the new location. Those desiring help are asked to register with Mrs. Sinclair.

The Welfare Council, composed of representatives from churches and other organizations, will cooperate as usual with the bureau at the new address. Co-operation of the public in centralizing the city's philanthropy through these authorized channels is urged. Those desiring to make contributions of food or clothing to the bureau or council are asked to deliver them in the rear of 225 East Broadway, second rear door from Louise street. All seeking help, free employment or wishing to report needy cases, call Glendale 340 and ask for the Glendale welfare bureau.

GLENDALE HIGH WINS SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA FOOTBALL TITLE!

Dynamiters Defeat Compton 24 to 0 in Final Game of Year

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Captain "Santa Claus" Dick Ryan smashed Compton's line, tore up its secondary defense, completely swept the Gladiators off their feet and brought the Southern California prep grid championship to Glendale as sort of a Christmas present, in remembrance of his fourth and last year, both in the school and on the football team.

Captain Ryan was undoubtedly the star of the day but he only slightly outshone his team-mates in brilliancy for never before have the Dynamiters played the brand of football they displayed Saturday when they handed Compton a 24 to 0 thrashing at Washington park before a crowd of 10,000 persons.

Captain Ryan was going strong the whole game, he hit the Compton line like a battering ram and eluded the secondary defense and safety men by tricky running. Ryan hit the hardest of anybody in the game. Bud Elliott got away for several beautiful runs by tricky and shifty sprinting. Elmer Muff was darting here and there, and Denney was backing up the line like a brick wall. Bud also figured in all the plays and ran Ryan close for honors.

Dotson Does Punting

Louis Dotson also deserves a heap of credit. Louis was forced to do all of the punting for the Dynamiters. He had never punted in a game before, save twice against Orange when Bradbury was hurt, but the way he got 'em off against the Gladiators was nothing short of marvelous. They were never less than forty yards and averaged forty-five.

The Glendale ends, Lavelle and de Parcq, showed some of their best form this year. Lavelle made several tackles that threw the Compton backs for losses and made them leave Les's end alone. De Parcq guarded his wing well and broke up and intercepted three or four of Roselle's passes.

Lovell Kicks

The Glendale line played a wonderful game, working together like a steam-roller and outcharging the Gladiators on every play. Porter Thompson and Johnny Lovell, both lightweights, also did their bit to ring up the score. Johnny was injected twice to do some high-class goal booting while Thompson was sent in twice. Lovell booted four points in two tries, a field goal from the twenty-five yard line and the extra point after Ryan's touchdown.

Thompson's line-smashing ability was phenomenal, considering he tips the beam at less than 135 pounds. Thompson tore through the Compton defense as readily as his larger backfield mates and came through when given his chance to score the final touchdown after Ryan was forced out on the two yard line following his twenty-five yard run.

The Gladiators had a strong team but seemed to go to pieces after Ryan got away for the first touchdown. Their line was weak in spots and the Dynamiters readily picked the holes which were to be easily opened. Donley, Burris and McReynolds were strong on the defense. In the backfield Edmundson and Cox did the best work.

Rozelle Looked Stale

Captain "Rosy" Rozelle who was cooked up to be some star was all off. In the second half as defensive quarterback he sidestepped half the plays and got in for a triple share of ye old razzberries from the rail-birds on the east side of the field.

After Glendale kicked off to the Glariators both teams were forced to result to punting quite frequently. Finally Compton got a break when Elmer Muff fumbled a punt for the first time and Fessler recovered for Compton on Glendale's forty-five yard mark. First down took the ball to the thirty yard line.

Cox missed a chance to score when he muffed Rozelle's pass which would have meant a fifteen yard gain. Compton was penalized fifteen yards on the next play. Ryan threw Rozelle for a loss and Fannon set Compton back on its own twenty yard line by blocking Rozelle's punt, Rozelle recovering.

Ryan Smashes Through

Rozelle punted to Muff who ran the ball back to Glendale's forty yard line. Denney attempted one pass but on the next play Ryan got away for his smashing, twisting run for sixty yards and a touchdown. Afte. Ryan crashed through the Compton line it was all over but the shouting for he left the Gladiator backs as if he wore seven league boots.

Coach Hayhurst yanked Denney and sent in Lovell to convert. Lovell kicked the ball squarely over the middle of the crossbar and came out before the kick-off, all without removing his sweat shirt. Porter Thompson took Lovell's place.

The Dynamiters marched right down the field again after getting the kick-off on their own thirty-yard line. Ryan reversed his field for a sixteen-yard gain, Bud circled end for seven, Ryan made five more through tackle, and Elmer Muff got loose for thirteen. Thompson made six and Ryan bucked yards. From the thirty-yard line Bud was finally forced to try a place kick, which was a little wide. The Gladiators managed to get the ball on de Parcq's fumble of a pass, and staved off another Glendale score during the second quarter.

Use New Plays

The Dynamiters had not touched off their blast yet, however, for, during the second half, they burst forth with some new plays that were corkers. Two of the best plays came, one after another, in the middle of the third quarter. The Glendale fans sensed something when Ryan was called back for what appeared a punt or a pass, and the game has yet to come when Ryan does either.

Zaun flipped the ball to Bud Elliott, who stood a little behind him and slightly to one side, and what did Ryan do but come tearing at Bud to take the ball from the Glendale quarter's hands and plunge through Compton's line. Some wise guy tackled Ryan, but was dragged five yards by the Glendale captain, who managed to make eight yards on the play. The next play was the same formation, with Bud back, Denney receiving the ball and making yards.

Field Goal Made

Bud circled right end for ten, Muff made six, and Ryan sprinted twenty-three yards around left end. All of this brought the ball to Compton's thirty yard mark. Glendale made yards again but a chance for a touchdown was spoiled when the Dynamiters were unable to make downs after the locals recovered their own fumble. Lovell was sent in for Denney and booted a nice field goal from the twenty yard mark.

Compton kicked but it was not three minutes before the locals had crossed the line for the third touchdown.

Bud Elliott ran the kick back twenty-five yards to Glendale's thirty-five yard line and after numerous short gains which thrice netted yards the locals were on Compton's thirty yard line. From here Bud skipped around left end for a touchdown. Bud also converted.

Glendale kicked off and a pass, Rozelle to Edmundson, netted fifteen yards. The play was around right end and de Parcq got sore and the next time Rosy heaved a spiral he gathered in the ball on Compton's forty-yard line. Ryan broke through right guard for eleven yards and Porter Thompson made three more.

Thompson Scores

Ryan smacked the Compton left end, who had dashed into the fray a bare minute before, and was at the point of eluding Art Elliott and Rozelle when he ran out on the two yard line. Thompson was given the ball twice, duplicating Bud's brilliant scoring play which won the last game from Orange, by leaving his interference and diving over right guard for the score. Bud Elliott converted.

The Compton supporters were out en masse with a couple of brass bands and a girls' glee club. Although their yelling wasn't to be bragged about they certainly supported a losing team well.

Much credit goes to Coach Hayhurst for the victory. Only real coaching can turn out a team like Glendale's and Hayhurst has worked hard to develop a winning team. Glendale's style of attack Saturday was flawless, Bud Elliott also deserves a lot of praise. His signal barking was perfect and he managed the team like a veteran chess player. It was necessary for Bud to call signals over only once or twice.

Many Dynamite Rooters

Glendale was well represented with 6,000 rooters and the G. U. H. S. band. The girls did not form their "G" on the field owing to no school last week and consequently no time for practice and making arrangements.

How Dynamiters Won Title

If there is any person within the limits of Sunny Southern California who does not think that the Dynamiters played real football of the "smash and carry" kind Saturday afternoon, one glance at this table will open his eyes. For instance, the Dynamiters blasted their way to 386 yards on scrimmage, while the Gladiators were making only 53 yards. The following table shows the activities of both teams, by quarters:

BASEBALL

The Glendale White Sox were handed a wallop by the Pasadena Merchants yesterday afternoon at Brookside park, when Kerwin's crew held the short end of a 15 to 6 score. Pertica and Ross held the locals to eight hits while their teammates were gathering twenty-two hits off Emerson. McNabb hit a homer, Reese grabbed two triples; Shields, G. Haas and Cline got triples; Deal, Ross, Tellez and Pfahler hit doubles.

Harry Manush and his Glendale Caseys kept up their winning streak by getting a 15 to 1 win over the Pasadena Knights yesterday at the local ball park. "Chief" Butler held the visitors to four hits while Glendale gathered fifteen off Crysler. Cozington got four hits, one going for a double. R. Doll drove out a homer. O'Shea, Manush and Kinsye got triples. Cozington, H. Doll, Seizer and Meyers grabbed off doubles. Butler struck out eleven men.

Conkwright, on the mound for the Burbankers, struck out fifteen men and allowed seven hits. Heidler struck out thirteen and allowed eight hits. Bacom got a couple of doubles, and Butsch added another, while Bacom got a couple of singles. On Saturday Burbank did not fare so well, losing to Pacific Electrics in the Industrial league, 21 to 5, in six innings.

Van Nuys cinched the game in the opening frame yesterday and defeated the Tom Mix Wildcats, 9 to 5.

Ferdie Schupp hurled the Gilmore Oilers to victory over the Hollywood Merchants, 7 to 3, at Hollywood. Three double plays by the movie lads put a lot of pep into the contest.

Dick Bonnelly struck out fourteen men and paved the way for Azusa to win over Pasadena Paints, 9 to 3.

"Speed" Getchell's Inglewood team tasted defeat yesterday at the hands of the C. C. M. O. team when Leo Seifert, former Cincinnati hurler, let the Inglewooders down with five hits and struck out ten men. Haycox was touched for seven hits. The score was 2 to 1.

The St. Louis Giants defeated the Pacific Electrics 8 to 4 at Goodyear park.

Following is the line-up for the card tonight: Wrestling match, Fred Davis vs. Hank Griffin, fifteen minutes to a decision; Kid Leo vs. Josa Kaba, four rounds; Joe Burke vs. Jesa Messa; Tommy Wolgast vs. Jimmie Kid Porter; semi-final, Eddie Shannon vs. Paul Hardy; Kid Durant vs. Smiling Joe Herman, main event; Young Salvadore vs. Young Benny Leonard, extra special newsboy championship bout.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

A reporter up in Sacramento had a good ear for news. He ransacked the state archives for preservation of all writings that no one will publish. He found a 'mouth full' in his ransacking. Archives are set aside by state to insure freedom from piracy of all manuscripts which young and old America thinks should be given Nobel prize. Publishers and movie producers don't think so. They're quite right, as Oscar Wilde would say, if some of scripts unearthed in reporter's search were typical of mass.

Movies are all wrong, two million would-be thinkers think. They shouldn't think, they should know it if they ever go inside a picture theatre. But they can't convince movie producers of this think. Of all the thousands of scripts that smother the state archives 999 of every 1000 were meant to make the working script for the 'Birth of a Nation' look like Diamond Dick novel.

One which the author figured had as snappy a title as was ever conceived by a Mack Sennett 'gag' man was anchored with this nice, little bit of briefness: 'How Bridget Served the Tomatoes Undressed.'

Ye Ed can't pass on the details of the manner in which plot of Bridget's Tomatoes is unfolded but, in the words of the chorus girl, getting her fangs around the stage-door Johnny's diamond, 'it must be real.'

How Bridget served them tomatoes undressed isn't the half of it. She should have served 'em dressed according to the best informed censors but—she didn't. The title was enough. After that all author had to do was rush to Sacramento and get state's okay it would stay in archives until country goes dry.

Let Ye Ed give some of these writers a bit of advice, then there won't be so much confusion in archives. Don't take such a serious stand on life. Let Bridget serve her tomatoes any way she pleases. Who cares. But—if writer will weave plot around a new dressing for Valentino's whiskers or write something that will make Gloria Swanson more glorious in less clothes, he or she will have not worked in vain.

You don't have to be intelligent. The dumber you are the better script writer for the movies you'll make. Real drama isn't wanted. Producers don't know what you're driving at if you show taint of dramatic artistry.

And be sure and have the 'happy ending.' In the movies no one ever dies only villain. The lover lives on forever and ever. Be sure and have hero poor boy who rises from nothing to something. Movies won't allow a rich man to love anyone, even himself.

Be sure and have heroine. The more her brains rattle the less liable she is to do anything right. Not supposed to do anything right in movies. Everything supposed to be wrong.

The poor shop girl always should arrive at fade-out by owning a department store and having as her floor sweeper the former owner. Don't forget the cabaret scene. Script without cabaret scene is as useless to producers as it would be to Mae Murray.

Don't forget the villain. If he can't be like Lew Cody he ain't no villain. Villain must be either choked to death or poisoned before end of last reel. No villain ever lives in the movies.

No hero ever dies. All heroes marry the heroine—whether they love each other or not. Don't forget to exclude all art. Art has no place in the movies.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—Clark Griffith of the Washington club said before he started home from Chicago that his league had every confidence in the ability of Ban Johnson to conduct its affairs for the best interests of all concerned and that Johnson would continue his term of office until its expiration.

"We do not need to invite him to remain," said Griffith. "I have always considered Johnson to be one of the great men of baseball," said owner Shibe of Philadelphia, "and I have not changed my opinion since he came into contact with the commissioner of baseball and was worsted, but that might have happened to anyone in baseball. Johnson did not visit his office Thursday. He felt deeply the situation in which he found himself. Any fight that he may have made he insists was for what he thought was the good of baseball. He held the same attitude in New York when he was attending the meeting of the American league."

So far as the executive administration of the American league is concerned, there is no reason why Johnson should run afoul of Commissioner Landis in the future, now that he is not a member of the advisory council. Whatever there is in the future for the advisory board to do must be referred to Frank Navin as the American league representative. As a matter of fact there is a great deal that Commissioner Landis can do without conferring with anyone.

This fact is becoming more and more apparent to the members of the American league, and they will be more careful to watch their step in the future.

National league men have no comment to make on what happened. There has been no flinging of criticism back and forth this time as there has been in the past because the Nationals were not without the fear that something might be set off which would involve them and all others concerned in a general wrangle like others that have taken place.

The adoption of the agreement by which the American league pledged itself to restrain Johnson from mixing up with the commissioner was made without debate. It is the first time in baseball history that the chief executive of one organization has been reprimanded by any medium in which there has not been almost a pitched battle between conflicting parties.

Auto Races Christmas For Riverside Track

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 22.—Riverside looms as the automobile racing capital of California this week, nearly a score of daredevil racing pilots with some of the fastest dirt-track and paved speedway cars entered in the race meet to be staged at the Mission City on Christmas day, on the Southern California fairgrounds track. Among the stars who arrived here today to take part in the meet were Ralph Ormsby, George Beck, "Curley" Young and "Fuzzy" Davidson. The track is one of the fastest half-mile ovals in the west.

A chair with a back that forms a coat hanger and with a collar drawer and sliding foot rest has been invented.

LINDSTROM WILL START ON BENCH

Stellar Third Baseman Will Give Way to Groh, Says Boss of Giants

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—In an interview made public today, John McGraw stated that Heine Groh would start the 1925 season at third base for the New York Giants, with Fred Lindstrom, juvenile sensation of the last world series, sitting on the bench.

"Groh played great ball during the European tour," McGraw declared. "He is ready to take his place with the best of them right now. I have nothing but praise for young Lindstrom but he can view a few more games from the bench without doing him any harm. You must remember that he is less than 20 years old and has lots of time to develop into the great player I confidently expect him to be."

BERKELEY TRIMS BAKERSFIELD 9-0

Drillers Lose Chance to Win When Sheaf Winded at End of 75-Yard Run

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 22.—For the first time in five years the state title in prep gridiron games does not repose in the Kern County Union High school, following the defeat administered to the Drillers here Saturday by the Berkeley Yellowjackets. Joe Sheaf, Driller substitute end, lost his chance for fame and glory when he hesitated 20 yards from the goalline after running 75 yards, and was overtaken by a flock of Yellowjackets.

Berkeley was leading in the fourth quarter, 2 to 0, when Sheaf grabbed a lateral pass on the 5-yard line and started down the field. In a desperate attempt to score, Bakersfield opened up an aerial attack, and one of the passes was intercepted by Clymer, who ran 95 yards for a touchdown, and later converted, giving the Yellowjackets the game, 9 to 0.

Saturday's defeat was the first Bakersfield has suffered at the hands of a high school game in five years. The Drillers were outweighed twenty pounds to the man.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—It is figured that Jack Renault lost at least a hundred thousand dollars because of the snag he ran against in Boston, Romero-Rojas. For had he not come this cropper, as the horsemen say, he would have been in line for two or three big money bouts.

Leo Flynn, Renault's manager, is the shrewdest handler of fighters in the business and how he came to steer his man against the rugged Chilean, or rather how he came to hold the Chilean light, is a problem no one seems able to answer.

Leo, of course, is filling the air with alibis, but when he is approached with offers of a return bout with the Chilean in New York he shows no eagerness to clinch the date. The fact is that Romero is beginning to overcome the one great defect he formerly had, a glass jaw.

One expert says that Romero always used to hold his mouth open when coming in and that this was what made him vulernable. Now he bores in with gritted teeth and the shocks are not telegraphed to the brain with so much vigor.

Willie Lewis, who manages Abe Goldstein, the bantamweight champion, is not lacking in shrewdness. Two years ago when Willie Darcy was a promising fighter he was pitted against Pancho Villa and made a good showing.

Up pipes Willie Lewis, proclaiming Darcy to be a great fighter. Then sure enough he lets his champion sign for a match with Darcy, after great "reluctance." And Goldstein knocked Darcy out. Catch it? Goldstein was able to do what Pancho Villa could not do.

Then up rose Cannonball Martin—Martin with his record of sixty straight wins. So Willie Lewis grabbed him quick for his champion while all the time he was singing Martin's praises.

New York Fans Kick At Deal for Shocker

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Protests by New York fans against the deal whereby the Yankees regained possession of Urban Shocker, continued in increasing volume today. The concensus was that the Yankees had received the worst of the transaction in sending Joe Bush, pitcher and pinch hitter, and Milton Gaston and Joe Giard, recruit pitchers, to St. Louis for the veteran spitballer. Much of the dissatisfaction is centered around Bush, who not only pitched good ball but hit well while in a Yankee uniform.

REV. JOHNSON IN CHRISTMAS TALK

Broadway Methodists Hear Pastor In Sermon on Christmas Spirit

"Beginning at Moses and all the prophets, He expounded unto them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself." Using this twenty-seventh verse of the twenty-fourth chapter of Luke for his text, Rev. Maurice M. Johnson preached on "The Subject of the Ages" at the Broadway Methodist church yesterday morning.

"We have in this conversation between Jesus and the two disciples on the road to Emmaus the morning of His resurrection two clear-cut statements from our Lord that He was the subject of all the Old Scriptures. He said to those saddened and disappointed men who despaired of their Lord's ever returning from the grave, 'O, fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken. Ought not Christ to have suffered these things and to have entered into His glory?' They, with the other disciples, had believed fragments of the prophecies, but their eyes were heavy and their hearts faint concerning the unfulfilled portions of the Scriptures. But, thank God, since they were honest and teachable, Jesus 'opened their understanding that they might understand the Scriptures.'

Lord as Subject

"My dear friend, has your understanding been Divinely opened? Can you understand the Scriptures? You do not need anyone's 'key.' Take our Lord as the subject, the real heart of each book, and begin your study. In this Christmas season we are all too apt to join the fleshly sentiment of the throngs in thinking of a Christ who was first heard of less than two thousand years ago, when the angels sang over Bethlehem's manger and a Babe was found wrapped in swaddling clothes. Let us leave Glendale this morning and, as woodsmen, enter the thicket with ax and saw to cut and clear away the brush and briars, that the giant oak may be seen standing in his stately majesty, alone and lordly; let us shove aside ourselves, friends, towns, cities and nations, and go on and on back through the ages, past the business and battles of kingdoms, on and on down to the Garden of Eden.

"Let us stand on the bank of the Euphrates, before Adam was created, or the beasts; even before God carpeted the earth with vegetation. Now, as we stand there on that bleak and barren bank, let us let our minds go with the waters down to the gulf and out to the ocean, then up with the mists—up and on back to the dawn of eternity. There we see 'in the beginning God,' our triune God—the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. That Second Person is the Son, who was given by the Holy Spirit to Mary and whose physical entry into this old sin-cursed world we celebrate as Christmas."

'DEVIL' DISCUSSED BY REV. CHRISMAN

Pastor, Gospel Tabernacle Tells of 'His Satanic Majesty'

"His Satanic Majesty the Devil" was the theme of the sermon delivered last night by Rev. C. H. Chrisman, pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle church. Rev. Chrisman said:

"The only information we have concerning Satan is what is gleaned from the Bible. The Bible declares that he is a person, not an impersonal influence. Names are given him. He possesses intelligence, memory, knowledge, will, the power of speech, executive ability, he accuses the saints and delivered against Jesus a personal attack. If anyone doubts his personality let them try resisting him for awhile and they will get first hand information that he is not some impersonal influence but a spirit being filled with diabolical power and subtility.

Created as Angel

"God did not create him as a devil. He created a shining angel who is called in Scripture Lucifer the son of the morning. He was full of wisdom and perfect in beauty. His heart was lifted up with pride and he fell from his lofty estate. He became the prince of the power of the air and the god of this world.

"On various occasions he tried to get rid of Christ. On Calvary he appears to have succeeded, but on the resurrection morning he discovered that Christ had arisen and was henceforth to be enthroned in the hearts of hundreds of thousands of followers.

"When Christ returns Satan will be cast into the bottomless pit, the abyss. Then we will have for a thousand years a world without any devil in it. Thus will the millennium be introduced."

Free Methodists Hear Rev. Graves In Sermon

Rev. W. C. Graves, pastor of the Free Methodist church conducted services yesterday at the usual time. Sunday school was held at 9:45 o'clock with the preaching service at 11 o'clock.

Butterfly dogs, some weighing two and one-quarter pounds, were a feature among 2,000 entries at the dog show in Birmingham, England, recently.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

The grand march of Santa Claus is on! The old boy is going to be "himself" this year, with a broad smile of prosperity. Yes, everyone in the U. S. A. is happy this Yuletide season. Business is good, employment better than usual and charity well organized to make everyone joyous.

Southern California is particularly fortunate. Tourists are beginning to troop westward by the thousands each day. The weather is glorious and just nippy enough mornings to make one believe Santa Claus can drive a sleigh most of the way and travel by automobile on the fine boulevards of the Southland.

By gollies, one doesn't know what more to ask here than good health, for happiness reigns supreme.

The postoffice here is going to have a huge burden in delivering the mail that piles up annually the night before Christmas, but Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson assures the writer he is going to have everything delivered by noon Christmas day that has reached the local office. More than 100 happy workers are making the most of the job so far, and to date we have received an assortment of the season's greetings.

For those who have been tardy in mailing their greetings, may it not be suggested that you resort to the telephone and telegraph. A message by wire, or the human voice, would sound mighty good.

And would it not be nice if the radio stations would open their services to people who want to say "hello" to a host of friends in the East?

Early Sunday morning we "listened in" to a program given by KHJ, and Charley Wellman said "hello" to his Chicago friends. It seemed almost uncanny that he was talking direct to his former pals over "thin air."

Pietro Cane, Jr., one of the proprietors of the spaghetti station on East Colorado boulevard, was commenting to the writer last evening on what the younger generation will "take for granted."

"The radio will be no mystery to them," he said. "It will be an accepted fact, as the telephone is to the youth of today."

Then, that being true, one must wonder at the effect it will have. The music, classic and jazz, being instilled in their youthful souls; the liberal education the radio gives, will this not have a marked effect on their mentality? Naturally, it should, and the day is coming when the best things of life will be appreciated by the most plebeian.

Congratulations are in order for the victory scored by the Glendale Union High school team over Compton Saturday.

Good sportmanship, good publicity and a good place to live! That's a good combination.

SAN PEDRO, Dec. 22.—As Christmas gifts thirty enlisted men will be raised to the rank of chief petty officer in the Pacific fleet, it was learned today. The vacant billets call for fourteen chief boatswain mates, three chief turret captains, three chief quartermasters, two chief signalmen and three chief bandsmen.

AGED MAN GETS REWARD

ONTARIO, Dec. 22.—T. Y. Belew, aged grocer of this city, will have a Christmas gift in the form of $1000 reward for finding a case of diamonds lost by Morris Rudman, jewelry salesman, on the highway near here. Lloyds of London agreed to pay the sum.

QUEEN BEE WORTH $50

UPLAND, Dec. 22.—A queen bee is worth $50, according to William Atchley, local bee man, who addressed the Ontario Rotary club. She lives three years as compared with the sixty day life of a working bee. Electrical machinery is now used to extract honey, he said, and San Bernardino county supplies 250,000 pounds annually to a market all over the world.

ASK INVESTIGATION

SANTA ANA, Dec. 22.—Investigation by the federal grand jury is sought by the "Citizens Dry Enforcement league" with reference to the office of A. P. Nelson, district attorney, who has been opposing the Ku Klux Klan. It was charged by Rev. Leon L. Myers of Anaheim at a recent mass meeting that more than 500 bootleggers ply their trade in Orange county.

Christmas Party for Kiddies at Oakmont

Children of Oakmont Country club members will be entertained tonight at the clubhouse at a jolly Christmas party from 7:30 to 10:30 o'clock. All children under 12 years of age have been invited. Santa Claus is an expected guest. He will preside over a huge, brilliantly lighted and decorated Christmas tree. Each child will receive a gift.

F. P. Newport has donated a toy Packard automobile, which will be given the child holding the lucky number. In the same way a five-pound box of candy donated by B. F. Cook, will be given away. When each child arrives at the club he will be given a card bearing a number. Duplicate cards will be placed in a big box. At 9:30 o'clock two numbers will be drawn and the winners declared.

Winter Grain on Hand Totals Many Bushels

DULUTH, Dec. 22.—At the close of lake shipping there were 20,950,000 bushels of grain in Duluth and Superior elevators in addition to 2,119,000 bushels which were loaded on boats that will remain in the harbor all winter.

Original "refrigerator" cars consisted of box cars with sawdust and ice packed between the double walls.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—The rally in stock prices was unable to make further progress today because of the heavy volume of selling orders which flooded the market from the opening, most of them in the industrial list and market leaders which had been prominent in the advance in the last ten days. There was some disposition to attribute a good bulk of the selling to professional shorts, but profit-taking in order to take advantage of the recent spurt in stock prices and the unwillingness of traders to "load up" before the Christmas holiday doubtless accounted for the reactionary condition of the market.

As a result, the market was dull on reactions and offerings of stock were not large at the lower price levels. A few of the industrial leaders appeared to be strong enough to work against the trend of the market. General Electric, up six points to a new high at 293, was the oustanding strong spot of the industrial list.

Reports from the leading industrial centers were of the same favorable tenor as in the last two weeks. Buying of zinc for domestic and foreign markets sent prices of that metal to a new high for the year at 7.60 today. Pig iron prices were marked up 50 cents a ton in eastern Pennsylvania, with a further advance to 24 a ton anticipated. Steel mills will curtail their holiday shutdowns; textile mills are preparing to increase their working schedules. Another railroad stock, that of Texas & Pacific preferred, was placed on a 5 per cent dividend basis.

The heavy selling of Pan-American B, leader in last week's rise in oil stocks, was absorbed with a loss of a little more than a point, while Standard Oil of New Jersey declined only fractionally and leading independent oils held a good part of their recent gains.

Loss of six points in Cast Iron Pipe and three in American Can, four in Philadelphia & Reading Coal, four in Worthington pump, two and one-eighth in Replogle Steel, two in Stewart-Warner, four in Sears-Roebuck, two in Baldwin and three in Gulf States Steel shows the extent of the decline. In contrast to recent sessions, as regards the column of selling, it should be noted that it was not until after the fourth hour that the total number of shares sold reached one million.

Tightening of the call money market was also a handicap to the stock market today. Money on call was posted at 3 per cent at the opening, after which it moved up to 3½ and then to 4 per cent.

Stock sales, 1,560,000 shares; bonds, $15,534,000.

CHICAGO WHEAT

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—The grain market grew weaker as today's session wore on and closed lower.

Wheat finished 1 3-4 to 3 3-4 off.

Corn closed 5-8 to 1c lower.

Oats finished 5-8 to 7-8 off.

Provisions started higher, but ran into liquidation, generally attributed to grain weakness.

Women of Europe are taking up the law as a vocation in increasing numbers.

BOND SUMMARY

"In anticipation of the onrush of business which is expected early in 1925, strength in industrial bonds held full sway in the bond market," states Edward Leimert, resident manager in Los Angeles of the bond department, Bank of Italy, in covering financial events of last week.

"During the fall months of this year there has been abroad a movement on the part of business generally to build for the future. The condition of comparative inactivity which had given the industrial world an aspect of drabness a short time ago is gradually converting itself into an upward cycle.

"Educated by necessity during wartime, the American people have acquired the habit of hand-to-mouth consumption in foodstuffs, clothing and everyday necessities. This factor, supplemented by mending times, has given us overflowing coffers of wealth which is now being unloosed with the restoration of absolute confidence.

"These influences which have perhaps been at work since the signing of the armistice, are expected to culminate in the beginning of full capacity operations on the part of the majority of industrials before spring.

"Always followed by production is the necessary matter of distribution, which brings into play the great transportation systems. The carrier roads, whose operating efficiency has in many cases been increased by favorable mergers, will in a like manner be benefited in their part of moving raw wealth to the points of manufacture and later the finished products to the ultimate consumers.

"The consequent strength in corporation and railroad obligations may be construed as a teller of what may be expected of the bond market. Leaders in the advanced were Wilson & Co. issues with an average gain of 3 points, Maxwell Motors 7s, Atlantic Coast Line first 4s, and Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis liens.

"The bright outlook in this country, however, is to be shared with leading countries in Europe. Bolstering of national treasuries, as accomplished through the highly successful French, Belgian and Greek loans, together with the ready welcome awaiting the expected loan to Poland of about $35,000,000, will in all probability be followed by new financing for several European industrial concerns. Negotiations have already been opened for an issue of about $15,000,000 from Krupp Works of Germany.

"During the past week all classes of bonds maintained their levels in sympathy with these specific rises, although a tapering in volume became apparent in actual trading."

FINANCIAL BRIEFS

By Southland News Service

New enthuisasm was born over the week-end by Charles M. Schwab's published analysis of why conditions in 1925 are to be prosperous.

Bradstreet's reports retail and holiday trade as "irregular," with good and fair demand. Merchants in the south are "loaded" with unsold goods because of the late winter.

Gifts of stocks and bonds, particularly in utilities and high-class improvement districts, are being advertised as suitable Christmas tokens among the wealthier classes.

The Maine Central railroad has been given authority to purchase the capital stock of the Hereford railway, to terminate what is considered an unprofitable lease.

Double Gladiolus Is Produced By Grower

WOODSTOCK, Cal., Dec. 22.—A perfect specimen of a double gladiolus, the first ever seen by horticulturists here, has been produced by A. Siple, a well-known Woodstock amateur. Mr. Siple grew the unique flower from seed in his own garden.

It has a perfect inner ring of petals, quite separate from the outer ring; and it is attracting much attention among the gladiolus experts in the city. The spike has nineteen flowers, eight of them being fully extended.

Tired Postman Took Letters Home to Keep

BELFAST, Dec. 22.—One thousand undelivered letters were found in the home of Thomas T. Keady, a Belfast postman who died two years ago, when the house was searched by the police recently.

The find included letters from all parts of the world, including registered packets. Some of the letters were dated ten years ago, and were found intact hidden under a bed and in parts of the house.

The police surmise that Keady, whenever he felt tired, kept letters instead of delivering them.

INFANT CHILD OF INDUSTRY IS RADIO

Broadcasting Accomplishes In Few Years Work Of Thousands

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Radio today is the infant prodigy of American industry. It has usurped the place held in the public interest successively by the automobile, the motion picture and the airplane. Business men today are more interested in radio and its future than in any business problem outside their own personal interests. They are wondering how this new industry will weave its way into the nation's commercial fabric and what changes in the pattern will result.

They are speculating what this new industry will do to them, how it will affect markets for skilled labor and for such raw and finished materials as it uses, how it will be financed and what effect it will have on the credit structure. They want to know how much of the nation's buying power it will absorb and if it will create a new buying power to compensate.

Colin B. Kennedy of St. Louis, one of the pioneers of the industry who was manufacturing and marketing receiving apparatus before the development of Deforest, Armstrong and Hazeltine inventions led to the popular boom in radio, said today that there were symptoms of newness in radio visible today just as formerly these same symptoms appeared in lines now staid and substantial. Newness was no crime, he added, and the only cure for it was time.

Radio Grows Fast

"Perhaps not much time will be required to season radio as was necessary with some older industries," he continued. "A new industry born into our complex economic organization has to crowd into three or four years a process of growth which, in lines like the making of steel, have covered hundreds of years. Naturally there is some overlapping of stages of development.

"In radio for example there are receiving sets now to be bought which would be fine examples of the handicraft which distinguished the industrial middle ages and there are others which represent as complete a standardized process of modern machine production as are used in any industry. We have had to do everything at once and consequently we may have floundered more than otherwise would have been the case.

"We have had to build up our own army of skilled and specialized workmen. We cannot and do not pull skilled men away from other lines to absorb them immediately. Repeatedly we have seen in the growth of our business a large increase in working force followed by a temporary decrease in production since old skilled men were occupied training unskilled ones. Radio therefore is not going to upset the market for skilled labor in other industries. It simply has broadened the field of opportunity to a young man willing to work and make himself a skilled artisan.

Radio Not Toy

"Something like this is happening in markets for raw and finished materials. Radio does not absorb enough of such materials in comparison to total consumption to produce any embarrassing results. By adding to the number of different markets it is adding to the breadth and stability of those markets.

"As to buying power, I wonder how much radio has already added to the buying power by dissemination of market information, speeding up interchange of staple goods and reducing speculative losses and delays.

"There are two possibilities in radio I hope will be guarded against. One is the proneness to regard radio as still in the experimental stage. The basic principles of radio communication have been thoroughly explored and the job now is one of gradual steady progress made by standardizing the best of what we already know.

Glendale Elks Will Act as Santa Claus

over his Santa Claus mail today, sorting the letters so that filling the orders could be handled in a systematic manner with the least delay.

"Dear Santa—How are you, old top?" read one of the communications from a little fellow, 11. "I'm all right but still at the job of asking Santa Claus for Christmas presents. This year I can use a box of paints and would like a copy of "Treasure Island," if you have it."

Two little girls wrote that they had nine brothers and two sisters a piece. Both of them asked for clothing for themselves and their brothers and sisters. One of them asked also if her mother could have a job in one of the local department stores. Most of the appeals come from children where there are families of six or more, Mr. Franz said.

In many cases fathers are living, but are tubercular and unable to work.

From Elderly Man

Two letters particularly caught the attention of Mr. Franz and his helpers today. One was written in perfect handwriting and resembled more an engraved card. It was from an elderly man who said he had once been head of an institution of learning in the east. He has tuberculosis and is unable to earn a livelihood now, however. He asked a mattress for his bed and a pair of shoes. The other letter was from a grown-up also, who asked for a new pair of lungs, model of 1894, and preferably made of leather. He also asked the Elks' Santa Claus to bring him twenty pounds of new flesh and a like amount of fat. Mr. Franz shook his head and regretfully admitted this was one order he could not fill.

A report showing the work done by the Elks' sick and relief committee since 1914 has just been compiled by Mr. Franz. It shows that seven houses have been built for widows with large families, 54,000 sick and distress calls made and 7,000 families aided with cash and groceries. Nine hundred men, women and children have been given clothing and many hundreds obtained work through the help of the committee. More money has been expended in charitable work in this time than was spent in buying the present clubhouse site and erecting the building, Mr. Franz pointed out.

HENRY'S NEW SEA LIZZY APPEARS

All Dolled Up in Nickel Plate 'Oneida' Churns Gulf Waters

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 22.—All dolled up in nickel plated trimmings, equipped with bumpers, three speeds forward and reverse, shock absorbers, "hydraulic" brakes and ball bearing compasses, one of Henry Fords new "flivvers" of the deep has been ploughing the waters of the Gulf of Mexico these last two weeks, unloading Ford parts on unsuspecting communities and finally taking on a cargo of sugar at Port Houston Texas, for the return journey to New York.

The good flivver ship "Oneida" is about the flossiest thing ever seen in these waters. About the only bit of fancy machinery comparable to her is one of Mr. Fords highly equipped and thoroughly nickel plated or brass bound freight engines of his personally owned Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad.

The ship is further evidence that "Uncle Henry" is a strong believer in "flash" on everything except his automobiles. They are turned out too fast to bother about and anyhow Mr. Ford always has been credited with the superstition that if he changed too greatly the general style of his cars it would bring bad luck. Only within the last two or three years has he permitted his engineers or architects or whoever does such things at the River Rouge to work certain changes in the old designs.

Makes Great Hit

But to return to the good ship Oneida. She has made a great hit at Jacksonville, here and at Houston. She has all the fixings and contraptions that one might expect of a Ford unit in efficiency and her loading and unloading contrivances naturally are designed to handle flivvers in their entirety or in small bits. The speed with which she disgorges roadsters, touring cars and "limousines" brings dismay to traffic cops and road builders.

And the crew of the Oneida! It is related here that a snappy taxicab drove up one day to the Chalmette docks and when the door opened two dapper young men stepped out. To all appearances they might have been classed as two young men about town. Either that or two "collegiates." Their clothes were of the latest cut. The crease in their rather full trousers was knifelike. As one of the young men paid the taxi fare and included a tip so generous as to cause the chauffeur actually to doff his cap, the other flicked a bit of dust from his faultlessly polished shoes. With topcoats tossed lightly over their left arms they disappeared up the Oneida's gangway.

For they were in truth two of Mr. Fords ordinary seamen. The wharf rats looked at them askance. No "bosun tight" or "midshipmite" to compare with them had ever been seen along the historic levees where they used to sing and wait for the "Robert E. Lee."

Plutocrats of Deep

No wonder the dock workers rubbed their eyes and looked again. These "ordinary seamen" are the plutocrats of the deep pluto-crats at $5 a day—deck-hands. The wages on the Oneida start at $5 a day and scale upward acording to ability and service. The U. S. Shipping Board pays from $47.50 to $62.50 a month for ordinary and able seamen and complains it cannot meet the competition of ships with even lower scales. Some coolie ships are said to pay the equivalent of six cents a day.

Sailors who sought to sign on with the Oneida were told there was "not a chance." All of the ordinary and able seamen who had gone ashore for a movie or a tea dance instead of the old time roistering "fight or a frolic" has turned up promptly and been rated in the language of the sea as "C and S" meaning clean and sober. The Oneida is an oil burner. Her engine room sparkles in brass and nickel. Her sides and her big stack glisten under high gloss enamel paints. Various experiments in cost and scientific management are being tried out with her. Captain A. N. Leland is her master, and no snappier "four striper" ever bossed a bridge or bawled a bo'sn out.

He "has the mould of a yachtsman bold" but apparently feels greater on his new fangled freighter—six days a week and no work Sundays.

MRS. LEAVITT IS CALLED BY DEATH

Pioneer Resident of City Passes Away at Home Sunday Morning

In the death Sunday morning, December 21, 1924, at 212 South Orange street, of Mrs. Edgar Leavitt, Glendale lost a pioneer resident and well-known clubwoman. She and her late husband, Rev. Edgar Leavitt, came to Glendale in 1901, when they purchased ten acres at the corner of Glendale avenue and Lexington drive, naming it "Whispering Pines." After her husband's death, Mrs. Leavitt remained at "Whispering Pines" until 1912, when she moved to the home on South Orange street.

Ada Winslow Leavitt was born in Ft. Atkinson, Wis. She and her husband came to Santa Cruz, Cal., in 1896. A few years later they went to Japan, where they served the Universalist church in work among the Japanese people for five years. Upon their return from the Orient they came to live in Glendale.

Funeral Wednesday

Mrs. Leavitt was a charter member of the Tuesday Afternoon club, and was active in the literature department of the club. She was a woman much admired for her keen intellect and greatly beloved for her gentle, loving manner and beautiful character. She is survived by a brother, Will Winslow.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Co., 137 North Orange street. Rev. C. Ellwood Nash, pastor of the Universalist church of Los Angeles, will officiate.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Frank M. Porter, dean of the University of Southern California Law school, will be a local representative at the American Association of Law schools' convention in Chicago, December 29. Southern California Journalism day will be held at U. S. C., January 15.

Captain George S. McCleary of the police juvenile department is interesting legislators in a bill to make mandatory the publication of marriage banns two weeks prior to the wedding. He believes this will curb juvenile marriages.

There will be 150 children invited at the Biltmore ballroom tomorrow noon as guests of the Los Angeles Advertising club's luncheon.

Charles Dunn, said to be port delegate of the I. W. W., and two other alleged radicals, were brought from the San Pedro station jail to Los Angeles last night to be held on criminal syndicalism charges.

Santa Monica and Venice are making overtures to Los Angeles for "sewer contracts" similar to that made by Glendale, it is reported. Bond issues will be voted upon to build trunk lines to the Hyperion outfall.

Children Ask Pet Dog Returned Before Xmas

Christmas for the three children of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Coker, of 401 East Colorado street, will not be a very happy one this year if their Spitz dog, lost near East Colorado and Kenwood streets yesterday morning, is not returned before that time. The dog has been their playmate and was given to them as a Christmas present.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Dec. 22.—The first dance of the season given by the Angeles Forest Protective association was a social and financial success, under the capable management of the following committee: Harvey Bissell, C. P. Waste, Herbert Scheuner and Arthur Aiken. This committee state they intend giving one dance each month to raise funds to build a drill house, where they may also store their equipment during the off months of the year, when they are resting from their arduous duties of the hazardous fire months.

Last night's dance netted $120. About $28 of this was raised at the refreshment table where Mesdames Anna Aiken, A. W. Brown and May Kelly were in charge of the pies, cakes and coffee, the edibles donated by the members of the La Crescenta Workers' club. Harvey Bissell, Harry Fowler and A. H. Lapham of Glendale gave short table talks. Mr. Bissell gave a resume of the history of the local branch of the association to date. Mr. Fowler spoke of the volunteer fire department to be formed with the installing of the fire hydrants, and new engine, a committee of three men to be appointed from each of the valley organizations to outline the work under direction of Fire Chief Duncan.

Mr. Lapham made a plea for the local Girl Scouts in the hope that the remaining $50 will be raised for the fund before the New Year when Mark S. Collins will withdraw his generous offer.

Attractive solo dance added to the entertainment, Mildred Maranville being most attractive in her clever Merry Widow dance. Miss Helen and Mary Ann Howard were accorded a hearty welcome in their beautiful Moth and Flame dance. Miss Eilleen Karr was perfect in her Egyptian Snake dance.

The Sciots' band of Glendale under the direction of Mr. Foley made such a hit that it was immediately engaged for future dances to be given here from time to time.

A social club is being organized which will in all probability be named the La Crescenta Valley club and will hold parties in the Verdugo City auditorium.

The road committee of the La Crescenta Improvement association reports the improving of the following streets in the valley: Briggs avenue, north of Michigan to the hills south of the boulevard to Altura; West Altura to Pennsylvania, Los Angeles avenue north of Michigan to the forest reserve; Pennsylvania north of the boulevard to the reserve and Honolulu avenue west to Tujunga line. This work was done at a minimum expense to the county. Harvey Bissell of Hi-Up ranch, having all the equipment, made arrangements with the county officials.

The building committee of the Women's club has adopted a feasible plan which was evolved through the efforts of a sub-committee. If this should appeal to the main building committee, it will then be brought before the club members for consideration when, if adopted, the final plans will be entered into and the work begun for a main unit of the club home. The club has another four months in which to commence work on its property on the corner of Piedmont and Los Angeles avenues where there is an acre of ground held in the name of the La Crescenta Valley Women's club.

Members of the congregation of St. Luke's of the Mountains held their last service in the school house yesterday morning when J. Styles, layreader of the Redeemer parish of Los Angeles, was in charge of the service. Christmas morning the services will be at 9:30 o'clock, when there will be a celebration of the holy communion. Miss E. Sharp, Mrs. Elizabeth Wattell and Mrs. Sam Woolwine will be in charge of the decorating for the first service to be held in the new church. Dr. Doneal of Los Angeles will be in charge of the services.

Mr. and Mrs. James Regan of 146 East Montrose avenue, are rejoicing over the arrival of James, Jr. Mother and son are doing nicely.

Montrose will again have its civic tree on the corner of Montrose and Honolulu avenues. This tree is gayly decorated each year giving travelers through the country a seasonal welcome. Fred Anderson has loaned this tree for this purpose for the past five years.

Valley Market Turkeys Fifty Cents per Pound

Clifford Clanin, proprietor of Valley market, 602 South Brand boulevard, announced today the price of turkeys for Christmas will be fifty cents a pound. The price announced previously was incorrect, he said. These are the tender, cornfed turkeys from Mr. Clanin's ranch at Delano and are fresh dressed. Orders can be telephoned, Glendale 759 or 760.

K. C. GIVE ANNUAL CHILDREN'S PARTY

Gifts Distributed by Santa To Kiddies Gathered At Clubhouse

Several hundred children of Glendale and Eagle Rock were made happy at the annual Christmas tree and Santa Claus party given yesterday afternoon at the Knights of Columbus hall, 330 East Lomita avenue, by members of Glendale Council, No. 1920, Knights of Columbus. A large Christmas tree, gaily decorated and lighted, held Christmas gifts for the children.

The stage was attractively decorated in Christmas colors, and streamers of red and green crepe paper were suspended from the stage across the rooms. Entertainment for the afternoon was furnished by pupils of the Pearl Keller school and included solo dances and musical selections.

Later in the afternoon Santa Claus, who was impersonated by Tom Smith, arrived and, amid much merriment, gave out gifts of candy and oranges to the children. Christmas presents which had been placed on the tree were also presented to their owners. Santa Claus presented Father Michael Galvin and Father Lynch of the Holy Family Catholic church and Father Hunt of the Eagle Rock Catholic church with gifts from Glendale council, Knights of Columbus.

The party was a decided success in every way. M. J. Brennan was in charge of arrangements for the party. Last night a party of Knights of Columbus numbering seventy-five motored to the Catholic home at Burbank and gave an entertainment for the children. Presents and candy for the children were given.

Prosecutor Tarr Wins Point In Speeding Case

Edgar F. Hughes, who appealed to the superior court a speeding case decision rendered against him by Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court, may have to abide by the verdict of the local court. A demurrer, filed by Leslie R. Tarr, city prosecutor, asking that the appeal be denied, has been sustained by Judge Hartley Shaw in Los Angeles. This means that Mr. Hughes will either have to show additional cause of action within ten days, according to Mr. Tarr, or will be obliged to accept sentence of the Glendale police court.

Complete 'Still' Raided Nets 150 'Wet' Gallons

A complete "still" and 150 gallons of whisky were netted Sunday morning by the Glendale police in one of the biggest raids ever carried out in the city. The premises raided are at the rear of 124 West Elk avenue, reported Chief John D. Fraser, who led the raid. Emilio Ramelli of that address, arrested earlier in the morning by Lieutenant Louis Nunn, for transporting two five-gallon containers of whisky, is held at police headquarters under $2000 cash bail.

The raid was conducted under a warrant issued by Judge Frank W. Lowe of the Glendale police court. Those in the raiding party included Chief John D. Fraser, Captain William A. Loving, Lieutenant Louis Nunn, Sergeants Ralph Baugh and W. H. Timmons. The still, of twenty-five gallons capacity, was in operation at the time of the raid, and was confiscated, Chief Fraser said. A large quantity of wine was also seized. Ramelli, who is said to have been arrested before in Glendale on similar charges, will be tried on counts of possessing, manufacturing, transporting liquor and destroying evidence.

Congress Given Burden Of Our Foreign Policy

press, hoping that the jingoes will be squelched. But he had hardly finished that when the resolution to get up a conference of the nations bordering on the Pacific was announced at a banquet of representatives of chambers of commerce of Pacific coast states and representatives in congress from the coast.

Several of the Pacific coast members, including Chairman Johnson of Washington of the house immigration committee, are insisting that the Britten resolution is unwise and it does not represent the true sentiment of the people of the United States who live in the Pacific coast region.

But some of the damage has been done and the executive branch realizes it so much that Secretary of State Hughes broke a precedent in the last 24 hours by commenting officially on the appointment by Japan of a new ambassador.

He took occasion to speak in complimentary terms of the new envoy and Japan knows that his purpose was to allay an ill feeling that might have been caused by the recent anti-Japanese agitations and the implications of the talk about a greater navy.

To Convince Japs

The executive branch of the government feels that if the two governments are left alone and public opinion is not inflamed by untoward incidents or provocative action in the legislatures of either countries, the relations between Japan and the United States will be improved and a way ultimately will be found to remove the causes of the present irritation.

Meanwhile, the American government is endeavoring to do all in its power to convince the Japanese people that there is no hostility on this side of the Pacific. Although Washington can not influence the states, it would be most gratifying to the administration here if some demonstration of friendship came from the Pacific coast people to offset the impression carried by the Britten resolution, which purported to represent Pacific coast sentiment.
